

Service Clubs Sell Everything From Trees to Nuts to Help Many Projects

Members Work Hard Year Round To Raise Money for Needy Groups

BY JACQUELYN FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Need some dates? Cheese? A 1923 fire truck? Light bulbs? Mixed nuts? A Christmas tree?

Members of Fox Cities service clubs hope that a lot of people will answer yes. Because they are looking at other needs—a school for retarded children, aid to the blind, Christmas baskets for needy families — and trying to raise money for them.

The service clubs carry on fund-raising projects of various sorts the year round. Several are underway now, with others recently completed and more in the planning stages.

The projects mean plain hard work for most of the club members, and the income usually doesn't run into high figures. But as a result many local groups receive needed and welcome help.

Help Support Camps

The money raised through these projects reaches into many areas of community life. It helps support the Lions Camp for the Blind and Visually Handicapped near Rosholt, the YMCA's Camp Sea Lion Lake for family camping, and Camp Waubeek for crippled children.

It is helping to build Plamann School for Retarded Children and helps Kaukauna Community Hospital and Calumet Hospital. It sends boys to Boys' State, baseball games and oratorical contests. It helps Boy Scout troops, junior baseball leagues and summer playground programs keep out of the red.

It helps start YMCAs in foreign countries. It pays doctor and dentist bills for needy school children and puts Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets on the doors of hungry families.

Useful Items

To do all this the service clubs don't ask for outright contributions. They raise the money by selling items people can use or enjoy, and by sponsoring programs, dinners and dances for their entertainment.

The useful items include brooms and light bulbs sold annually by the Chilton Kiwanis Club. The club raises about $800 a year this way for its youth work. To help support the Lions camp for the blind, the Appleton Lions Club, appropriately, sold 14,000 light bulbs this fall.

Food specialties are a popular choice for money-raising activities. The Appleton Downtown Kiwanians now are selling tree-ripened dates and cheddar cheese in order to carry on their community service program, which includes bean feeds for school crossing guards, contributions to Plamann School, and aid with doctors' and dentists' bills for school children. They raised about $1,200 with this sale last year. Chairman this year is Dr. George Sears.

The Northside Kiwanis Club is now selling four kinds of canned nuts, including fancy and mixed nuts. The money will be used for the national foundation program. Chairman is W. C. Johnson.

Teen-agers in the 10 Hi-Y and 14 Tri-Y clubs of the YMCA recently completed a sale of 3,600 cans of toffee-coated peanuts which raised $1,850. The profits of the sale, sponsored by the Interclub Council, will be used for the World Service program, which helps Ys in foreign countries.

Many of these sales are door to door, but the Noon Optimists donated fancy hats and trekked up and down College Avenue earlier this fall, hawking salted peanuts. They raised $350 which will be used for their "Friend of Youth" program, carried on with the Breakfast Optimists.

The clubs recognize a Boy of the Month each month, and send boys to Boys' State, ball games and oratorical contests. The Breakfast Optimists are making plans for a money raising project in January.

The Appleton Elks Club's interest is in buying food, not selling. The club raises money for Plamann School.

The Kaukauna Lions Club, which recently completed a poultry shoot, now is trying to raise money through the sale of one of the most unusual items picked by the service clubs—a 1923 fire truck purchased from the city. The money is raised to pay a pledge to the Kaukauna Community Hospital building fund, and for school athletic programs and charity for the blind sponsored by Lions clubs throughout the state.

Projects Vary

Some of the service club projects become traditions. The Y's Club sponsors an annual benefit banquet for the Calumet Hospital, which produces up to $1,500 a year, having sponsored a Christmas tree sale, and is also sponsoring a Christmas tree lot for about 10 years. The profits from this year's sale year as a special project for the 1,600 trees will be used primarily for Boys' Scouts. The city's scout troop is to pay the mortgage on the gym is officially sponsored by the club.

The Kaukauna Kiwanis Club recently completed a peanut sale, which the club combines ingeniously and skeet and trap shoot, and now time and hard work in a year is planning an appearance of Ru-around effort to make the "serv-

Union General Ousted In Bizarre Fashion

Disguised as Southerner, Lincoln's Runner Serves Papers to Fremont

BY TOM HENSHAW
AP News Features Writer

One of the most bizarre secret missions of the Civil War was performed by T. I. McKenny of Olympia, Wash., who disguised himself as the enemy to serve ouster papers on a Union general. The general was John C. Fremont, explorer, politician and sometime soldier, who strongly suspected the papers were on their way and surrounded himself with a bodyguard to prevent their delivery.

In modern terms, the situation would be roughly comparable to President Harry S. Truman sending an officer disguised as a Korean to relieve Gen. Douglas MacArthur of command during the Korean War.

At the start of the war, he hustled back from a European vacation to receive appointment as a major general and command of the Department of the West with headquarters in hotly secessionist Missouri. One of his first moves was to issue a general order freeing the slaves owned by all Missourians who were bearing arms against the government. President Lincoln canceled the order. Shortly after Fremont assumed command, a Union army under but one prone to extrajudicial management and blunder. It was clear to President Lincoln that he had to go a little further. He issued an order to effect. It was clear to Fremont, too, and he surrounded himself with a strong security against the order. This was the problem that confronted T. I. McKenny, an on the staff of Gen. Sam Curtis, who was called to deliver the order in late 1861.

Bought Disguises
Fremont's feelings about up command were well known. McKenny first went to a hand clothing dealer in St. Louis and outfitted himself as an alien planter. Then, traveling by train, he rode out to Fremont's lines, identifying as a messenger from rebel lines with information for Fremont alone.

Staff aides told him the was too busy to see him. McKenny refused and Houns went by. Finally, evening of Nov. 2, he admitted to Fremont's presence.

Order Delivered

"The general was sitting at a quite long table," McKenny recalled. "I can get the appearance of the he sat there, with his eyes a.d his hair parted in the middle. 'I ripped from my coat the document which he sewed in there and handed same to him which he took and opened.' Fremont slammed the door on the table and said, 'Sir!' he thundered, 'you get admission into my It really didn't matter. Fremont was no command of the West."

Winter Storm Hits Riviera

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—A sudden blast of winter weather stirred up the Mediterranean Sea Sunday, caused damage along the Riviera and sent snow swirling over parts of southern France.

High winds pounded waves against Riviera seawalls. Traffic on the waterfront boulevard of fashionable Nice and on the seashore highway to Monaco was held up.

In Monte Carlo's harbor a number of yachts—including Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis' luxury ship the Christina—were damaged by the waves.

South Africa Claims It Can Have A Bomb

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Dr. Abraham J. A. Roux, director of South Africa's Atomic Energy Board, said Sunday South Africa has the scientific knowledge, the ability and the industrial potential to produce atom bombs.

In a radio talk, Roux said he sincerely hoped this country would never be called upon to engage in such activity. He said the whole program of the Atomic Energy Board was concerned with the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Today and Tomorrow United Nations Faces Challenge As Fighting Rages in Katanga

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

The bloody business in Katanga dramatizes the grave issue which is now before the United Nations. The issue is whether it shall revert to being merely "a conference machinery," as Dag Hammarskjold put it, or shall be also a tentative venture in international government.

The intervention of the UN as law and order collapsed in the newly independent Belgian Congo was a bold attempt to fill a dangerous vacuum. When the intervention was decided upon, there was no visible alternative to multiple intervention by the various powers concerned, which included not only Belgium, France, and Great Britain but also the Soviet Union and the United States. However badly the UN intervention has gone, it can be said, it probably will be said in retrospect, that the alternative would have been much worse.

Worked Badly

Nevertheless, the intervention has worked badly, and the reason is that it has never had the support of the great powers. The UN is not a world government. It is and always has been an association of national governments in which the most powerful ones have a veto on action.

They have a recognized and legalized veto because in fact they have the power to obstruct decisively. This veto, which means that the UN can act only with the unanimous consent of the great powers, is the inner principle of the UN. This principle distinguishes the UN from a world government.

Dag Hammarskjold's bold experiment, which worked successfully enough on a small and unobtrusive scale in Palestine and in Laos, never had the full support of any government except to a considerable degree that of the United States. The UN action in the Congo aroused the implacable hostility of the Soviet Union. For all practical purposes, also, the UN has been opposed, not supported, by France, Great Britain, and Belgium. It is the division of the great powers in the Congo affair which underlies the conflicts in the Congo. For were the great powers united, the UN could impose law and order instead of having to fight a series of indecisive skirmishes.

The Soviet opposition to the Hammarskjold experiment took the form of an attack on the person of the Secretary General and on the structure of his office. In Soviet eyes Hammarskjold had circumvented the veto by administrative action in the Congo, and to frustrate actions which the celebrated troika proposal was put forward as a device to introduce the veto into the office of the Secretary General. But that was not all. The Soviet Union took the position that, since it disapproved of the Congo operation, it would not pay its share of the cost. This was a demonstration that a great power, whether or not it openly exercises a veto, has the inherent power to frustrate actions which it disapproves of.

Won't Pay

In the budgetary discussions in the UN the French government has taken the same position as the Soviet Union. It does not approve of the Congo operation, therefore it will not help to pay for it. If this became the general rule of the UN, no government would ever vote for anything unless it was prepared to pay not only its share but also the share of those who vote against the proposition.

The combined effect of the UN policies of Mr. Khrushchev and Gen. de Gaulle is in substance to eliminate from the competence of the UN all executive action to pacify areas of disorder. The UN would remain as a grand piece of conference machinery capable of debating and mediating for peace but, except in some rare case where the great powers are unanimous, incapable of enforcing peace. Hammarskjold's experiment would be a dream and a memory, like Camelot.

If this is the way it is, then we shall all of us have to face the problem of how to contrive in the unworkable situation in the Congo something that will work. It is not easy to see what that could be, and it is not being made any easier for the responsible powers by the grand abstainers in Moscow and in Paris.

Criticism of Colleges

Dr. Whitney Griswold, President of Yale University, has caustically blasted what he called the "desperately corrupted" values of contemporary higher education. We would have enthusiastically agreed with many of Dr. Griswold's points a decade ago. But now we must wonder whether he has been dozing a la Rip Van Winkle.

His primary complaints centered around the tendency of big universities to offer all sorts of courses besides the basic liberal arts and sciences as students and alumni demand, and the situation in American high schools. "It's at the secondary school level that these values are most desperately corrupted. . . by a curriculum, a program of pedagogy which is methodology of teaching that really has the effect of repelling instead of attracting the ablest teachers." The whole thing is held together by a "militant organization with branches in every state and elaborate headquarters in Washington." Presumably he referred to the National Education Association.

Dr. Robert Hutchins seconded the charges and said he thought Dr. Griswold was "more charitable toward the aims and practices of our educational institutions than I think the facts would warrant."

It has seemed to us there has been a tremendous change all along the line in education in recent years. The emphasis has changed from making the student happy at all costs to making considerable efforts toward stimulating that process known as thinking. Teachers, in particular, are critical of methodology although many were prompted by worried parents. There is a new and healthy re-emphasis upon excellence at the college level and it has definitely seeped down into the secondary schools if only because of the number of college flunk-outs.

But Dr. Griswold seems to be particularly off base in his comments on "the service station concept" of education at universities. Higher education could not and should not go back to the days when universities prepared men primarily for the ministry or the professions. The degrees of technical knowledge required in many industries today demand other courses and opportunities. And Griswold seems to fail to realize that all high school graduates do not and cannot go on to college. A strictly liberal arts curriculum is not the answer.

His remedies for the conditions he describes make one wonder where he has been the last ten years. He suggests better pay and conditions for teachers, training programs for high school teachers who wish to advance to college teaching, recruiting college-educated women for teaching and better "liberal education" for prospective teachers. All these programs are under way in many parts of the country.

There should be a greater emphasis upon excellence in our public high schools. Perhaps there should be more philosophy and liberal arts requirements in all college programs. But Dr. Griswold's protest that "the doctor cannot help the patient who insists on making his own diagnosis" is not at all apt. In fact, the diagnosis and prescriptions often ordered by the NEA over the years have been major sources of dispute among educational critics.

There are a lot of problems to be solved in education and new ones will crop up when solutions are found. Dr. Griswold's and Dr. Hutchins' acid comments serve to make people look at their schools a little closer. In that way, perhaps they are worth it.

The Spirit of Christmas

The Christmas season has a way of sneaking up on people. Even though merchants do everything possible to establish the mood early, most of the words don't penetrate until some crisp morning when the holiday's imminence suddenly becomes real. Then, "I don't have any Christmas spirit!" is heard almost as often as "Silent Night".

It might be easier to 'get in the mood' for Christmas if the spirit were not so securely packed away each year with the Christmas tree ornaments. The feeling of love for one's fellow man, which is, after all, the true meaning of this Christian celebration, ought to be kept out in the open, to decorate our homes and enrich our lives all year round.

The true significance of Christmas

Preventing Youth Gangs

A group of settlement houses in New York will spend a million dollars over the next three years working with children from 7 to 12 years of age in an effort to prevent them from joining fighting gangs in their teen years. The experience of Mrs. Ruth Tefferteller, a settlement worker, indicates that the development of youth gangs can be prevented if the youngsters receive the proper help in the formative years from 7 to 12.

The settlement house under Mrs. Tefferteller's direction worked with four groups of pre-teen-agers consisting of 50 youngsters from 45 families. None has become a fighting gang. Two of the groups are well into their teen years and apparently headed in the right direction. Her report indicates that all youngsters have shown a significant improvement and responsiveness to working with adults, even two who had to be temporarily sent to institutions.

As a result of this experience, the Vincent Astor Foundation has granted $1 million for the work now to be undertaken with other groups in the 7-to-12 age bracket. It is proposed to work intensively with youngsters who have banded in socially destructive groups and with their parents. Special help will go to delinquent children and careful records will be kept to guide future work in this area.

The executive director of the United Neighborhood Houses says that "when adults are helped to close ranks and stand together in the settlement, youngsters become increasingly secure, relaxed, cooperative, less hostile and more responsive to adult authority." In other words, the fighting gangs of teen-agers who have made headlines across the nation in recent years can be largely eliminated by giving proper attention to children in the 7 to 12 age group. That is the period when children have not rejected adult authority, according to settlement workers in New York, and they add by strengthening adult interest and action, "it is possible to change their pattern of behavior so that when they reach their teens there will be a workable relationship between child and parent that will help them to weather the difficult years."

Parents and public officials who have been denouncing teen-age gangs and exclaiming that they do not know "what this world is coming to" can be pretty sure the settlement workers have learned where the rebellious gangs come from.

Government Should Install Effective Warning Device

From The Wall Street Journal

People who travel a lot on commercial airliners know that before takeoff the flight engineer goes all around the airplane inspecting surfaces, controls and the condition of the tires. A tire with tread worn thin may blow out on a take-off or landing.

We see in the news that a tire manufacturer has found a way to put a bright red ply of fabric in aircraft tire treads. When the red fabric begins to show, it's a sign that the plane should be withdrawn from service until the wheel with the worn tire is replaced.

On the same day this development was reported, from Washington came news that the national debt had climbed within about $800 million of the $300-billion limit set by Congress last June. The Treasury indicates it does not expect the debt to bump any closer to the limit through the rest of fiscal 1962 — unless tax receipts are lower than anticipated. In that event the Administration will have to ask Congress for an emergency raising of the debt ceiling.

What someone ought to invent, it seems to us, is some sort of bright red warning device that will effectively compel a changing of the wheels of Government. To be sure, the debt limit is supposed to be a signal warning the Administration that the Government's tires are dangerously thin. But when the signal flashes, the Administration does not pull its vehicle out of service to put on whole new and unquestionably safe tires; in effect it ignores the warning signal and keeps on flying, the treads getting thinner and thinner. The airlines, like all of us who drive cars or sail boats, learned long ago that to ignore warnings of danger is to invite a crash. Only the Government seems to assume that it is above following the elementary rules of safety.

Reading Speed Best Skill for College Starter

From The St. Louis Post Dispatch

A genuinely thoughtful and ambitious student of high school age asked us the other day what we thought was the most important outside activity for one preparing for college. The answer was an easy one, as far as we were concerned, and we believe it was also accurate. We advised putting special emphasis on acquiring the ability to read with reasonable speed and to retain the gist of what was read. Otherwise, we suggested the acquisition of a good working vocabulary and concentration on writing with clarity. After all, words and the ability to use them effectively are the basic tools of the student worthy of the name.

Another Harrison Resident Offers Information About School Problem

Editor, Post-Crescent:

This letter is in answer to Mr. Eugene Chamness' letter of Dec. 12 explaining his reason for petitioning for a referendum vote. We thoroughly believe in the right of the people to request such a vote, but also believe they should be given all of the facts before they are asked to vote. We realize there is confusion even in our own district where interest has run high, and there must be even more in Appleton where people have not been as close to the Harrison problem. Therefore this is an attempt to present the facts fairly and honestly as we understand them.

1. Wisconsin Statute No. 40.3 states all of Wisconsin must be in high school districts by July 1, 1962. The huge land area but small in population of the Town of Harrison was not in any high school district. On Oct. 31, 1961, the Outagamie and Calumet County school committees, by an 8 to 3 vote, approved the petition for a portion of the Town of Harrison to attach to Appleton for school purposes.

2. Only that area of the Town of Harrison which is closest to the new 1966 South Side Appleton High School, the new 1963 elementary school, and the Madison Junior High sites is involved in this problem and referendum. Geographically every point in this area is closest to these new sites than to any other school system and was documented by a letter from a Wisconsin State Patrol officer at one of the hearings.

3. We do not seek attachment to Appleton with empty pockets. We have a high tax base, and our equalized valuation per public school pupil is very close to that of Appleton. Therefore, we should not be a tax burden to Appleton, but on the contrary would help pay the cost of new school construction. Taxes to the residents within the Town of Harrison will show no appreciable difference in whichever high school district we attach. The taxes will rise a little and about the same amount for any of the surrounding high school districts.

4. Repeatedly this attachment has been challenged on the grounds that it will endanger the future of the Harrison School in Sherwood by withdrawing too many children. The facts which are never mentioned are that the school is already severely overcrowded. The school has an enrollment of 130 and has 4 classrooms. In order to get by, we have improvised a fifth classroom for 4 years — first by converting a storeroom, then by using the school office, and then by renting an American Legion Clubhouse.

On Dec. 12 all of the remaining unattached area in the Harrison district including the Sherwood School was attached to Kaukauna. At that hearing the Kaukauna School Board was optimistic about continuing to operate the school, knowing, of course, about the previous Hilbert and Appleton attachments which will withdraw about 75 students. Kaukauna will undoubtedly put in a kindergarten next year which would occupy one classroom. The school started in 1955 with only 64 students and operated only 3 classrooms. Thus the enrollment has doubled in 7 years.

5. We were criticized for having only 6 signatures on our second petition even though the first had 218 or almost all of the electors. The 2 petitions were so similar, and there was no reason to believe there had been any change of heart. There were very few opponents within the petitioned area at either of the public hearings to substantiate the opposition's claim of a change of heart, whereas many people were present to speak out favorably.

6. It was mentioned we never went to the Appleton schools before so why now. Kobusson Bus Service from Kaukauna was the only one which serviced this area. Now, however, with the Appleton schools closer our students do go, as shown by the fact that every student who graduated from the 8th grade last year from the petitioned area, except one, goes to Madison Jr. High by car pool.

In conclusion, we can only say that the referendum will provide the means for every voter to express his own opinion. A YES vote on Tuesday, December 19 will indicate approval of the petition. Appleton is growing especially fast to the south and its schools are being planned accordingly. The already existing new Madison Jr. High, the new 1963 elementary, and the new 1966 South Side High School sites are all practically on the dividing lines between Appleton and Harrison. The petitioned area includes the land adjacent to Red Star and along Lake Winnebago as far as Firelane No. 14. We are Appleton oriented with

Presidential Primary Laws Being Amended

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Scarcely anyone ever has been content with the awkward machinery of the presidential primary election in Wisconsin and even with the current amendments in prospect it will remain a clumsy and ineffectual device in the realities of national politics.

But it is worthy of note that Republicans and Democrats have managed to join in some modest improvements that have been put through the legislature without the pious caterwauling that so often accompanies such attempts for sensible reform.

It may be assumed that Gov. Nelson is prepared to sign these amendments, since they were authored in part by Democratic Party Chairman Patrick J. Lucey, and he offered no objections to them when he was asked about the matter while it was before the legislature.

THE CHANGES

The changes are modest ones, but useful, nevertheless. They put the emphasis in the primary election where it should be — on the aspirant for the presidency and the nomination of the national convention, rather than upon the local politicians who want to go to a convention and have so often in the past used the presidential ballot as their own grandstands.

The provision for the selection of the respective party delegations by the state and district political organizations will be a substantial contribution to the strength and discipline and public prestige of the party organizations as such.

One of the weaknesses of party organization in Wisconsin is that it has so little real responsibility. Not only has that lack of definite public function been damaging to the parties in terms of their public recognition, but it has been a deterrent to participation in party activity of many persons of substance and experience whose services would be desirable.

Under the new law, the delegates at large, in the number set by the national committees in the national convention call, will be selected by the state party conventions — as are the shopping, churches, business, and extra activities. Is it not logical since we must go somewhere that we go to the closest, and to the school district that best serves our interests?

Mrs. Darwin E. Smith, Route 1, Menasha.

If you write a letter to the Forum, you must include your name and street address. Your name will be withheld from publication if you request it, and will be kept entirely confidential, unless your letter is about a person. Then your name must appear with your letter. The shorter the letter, the better its chance of being published.

state members of the national committee, as an example. Similarly, district party conventions will choose the district delegates, who usually are two. It can reasonably be supposed that these conventions will choose for these national convention seats their ablest and most representative members and leaders.

Often in the past, at both party conventions, the acknowledged leaders of the Wisconsin organizations sat on the sidelines, without credentials, because of the happenstance selection of delegations by aspirants for the White House who won in Wisconsin by default.

THE COMPLAINT

Such complaint as has been made against the new legislation singles out the provision that the winning presidential candidate of each party in the Wisconsin primary will win the whole Wisconsin delegation, irrespective of district differences, and that the delegation, shall be pledged to his standard for the first ballot only. After that, they will be on their own.

This looks like an erosion of democratic procedure, to those who tend to confound form and substance. It will permit Wisconsin politicians in the national convention hall to make "deals", it is said, that their home-folks may or may not approve. Yet if these delegates are truly delegates, probably they ought to have some discretionary authority. And if Wisconsin ever is to have any real punch in a national convention hall, it must have more elastic arrangements for its representatives. If the state insists upon the presidential primary — against the judgment of most of the rest of the country — the revised law appears to be the most practical approach.

We expect any day now to read about the purging of the Soviet Foreign Office official responsible for protesting the broadcasting of U.S. television fare to Icelanders.

When someone higher up the Soviet chain of command sees The Untouchables, The Corruptors, Jack Parr sobbing over some real or imagined indignity done him, and some of the other less palatable programs, this protest undoubtedly will be withdrawn.

In fact, we wouldn't be surprised if the Russians offered to subsidize telecasts of some of our bloodier gangster programs and more nauseating situation serials throughout the civilized world. What better way could they find to undermine global confidence in the American system?

By now the average Icelander must be convinced that all Americans carry guns and go around shooting one another.

'No Shows' Will Be Penalized By Airlines

From The Memphis Commercial Appeal

The "no-shows," an airline term for ticket buyers who fail to appear at flight time, at last are going to be penalized. The 11 major domestic airlines have agreed to do what they should have done long ago — impose a penalty of $5 to $50 on ticket-holders who fail to use their reservations and do not present written evidence of having cancelled in proper time. The carriers long have complained that no-shows cause many airlines to depart with empty seats that could have been sold to other persons. Now, if they adhere to their decision, which seems certain to have Civil Aeronautics Board approval, they can end a nuisance that reduced revenue and hampered other passengers.

Nehru No Longer Conscience of Man

Indian Leader Can't be Called 'Holier Than Thou' in Invasion

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru, who made himself the world's No. 1 holier-than-thou moralizer and man of peace, can no longer act as the conscience of mankind.

He ranged from critical to indignant when Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt, when the Soviet Union crushed the Hungarian revolt, and when the United States backed the rebel invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Now, after Sunday's Indian invasion of tiny Portuguese Goa, he is in the same boat with those he condemned. Goa has 1,537 square miles and 650,000 people on the southwest coast of India, a nation that has 450 million people.

Nehru may have achieved greatness in a number of ways as an Indian leader. But he has preached peace and avoidance of force so much that he has created an unreal image of himself.

Right Policy
When he was Mohandas Gandhi's disciple he accepted the master's doctrine of nonviolence as a political weapon simply because it happened to be the right policy at the time India was seeking freedom from Britain.

It was not something he believed in absolutely. He explained once: "The majority of us, I take it, judge the issues not on moral but on practical grounds, and if we reject the way of violence it is because it promises no substantial results."

This is the doctrine of opportunism. Taking Goa promised substantial results because it would be easy. Far-off Portugal could hardly make war on India to hold its possessions.

Less Substantial
The results if India had attacked Red China would look very much less substantial since the Communists have 650 million people and a far greater military force.

Since 1959, when Red China occupied about 12,000 square miles of Indian territory — almost 9 times the size of Goa — Nehru simply has argued.

Nehru has been under great pressure in anticolonial India to seize Goa, which Portugal took in 1510 and still holds as a colony.

Next year is election year in India for Nehru and his Congress party.

Ignore Plea
The prime minister ignored President Kennedy's plea of last Thursday to avoid the use of force.

This was a switch for Nehru, who in the past could always be relied on to deplore the use of force anywhere. He has now adopted the philosophy that might makes right.

It wasn't Nehru's only switch. Portugal has no more right to Goa than Britain had to India or France to Indochina. All three took territory because they had the power to and held the native people under thumb.

Life-Long Foe
This was imperialism, Nehru has been a life-long foe of it. But his action against Goa also is imperialism, although he may call it liberation.

If all this seems a contradiction in the man, perhaps it can be understood by this statement by Frank Moraes, an Indian journalist who knew Nehru a long time and five years ago wrote the story of his life: "It is interesting to see how his mind persuades his conscience of many things."

It explains how he can make a complete turnabout in six years.

In 1955, when some Indians suggested taking Goa wasn't much of a military problem, Nehru drew back from the thought of war. "The fact that a war is a little war doesn't make it less of a war," he said.

Then Sunday he made war, although it was a pretty safe kind of war.

Charlie Has Fun Listening To Partner Chat as He Draws

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Just for the fun of it all, I invite readers to sit with me on my newest general assignment — to cover Wisconsin cities and villages for the Sunday edition of this newspaper.

Although covering the communities is interesting, I get more fun from the company of my partner, Bill Juhre. Juhre, an outstanding artist, teacher, portrait painter and formerly a nationally syndicated cartoonist, is wonderful company because of his wisdom, his skill, and his ability as a raconteur.

Best of all, when this distinguished artist makes one of his wonderful sketches of people or places, he rambles on and it is a delight for me to sit back and listen.

One day last week, I sat in the back of the car while Bill made a sketch; and while he chatted amiably, I took notes. So—for today—you're invited to share my pleasure when I listen to Bill talk. Here's what he said while he sketched:

Bigger Rocks

"Now, there — right up there — is the vanishing point, and all my lines will radiate from there. . . Now, the rocks there ought really to be a little bigger than they really are so I'm going to make them larger just for the picture. Anyhow, they probably were bigger at one time. . . Nature is helping me; maybe I made this sketch a thousand years ago, hmmm?"

"There was a time in my career when a sketch like this would scare me to death — too much detail, too many little things, too much to observe and record.

I don't mean that I'm any better than I was then, but today I am wise enough to think to myself: I don't give a darn.

Impossible Trees

"Oh, well, I guess I do. Anyhow, see that little tree over there? I'm just going to skip that one. Let's take the position that someone cut it down 10 minutes before we got here, hmmm?"

"See that rock over there by the river? Well, that's partly obsidian, but I always thought they could get a better name for it.

Toulouse-Lautrec if he had listened to everybody . . .

"Now, Vincent van Gogh. I think he was manufactured as an artist, like Grandma Moses, bless her sweet old soul. I cannot accept van Gogh as a great artist, no matter how liberal I try to be. Anyhow, I know that he left the academics of art long before he should have left them. But his work will probably 'last' as long as the exploiters exploit it.

No Chimney

"By golly, Charles, you know what I did? See that house over there in the distance? Well, I left the chimney off. On it goes! We'd never hear the end of it if I left it chimney-less. You're the only House I know without a chimney!"

"Now, Charles, I'm just going to run this line over here, like this, and here . . . and here . . . and—now look at that slung river. I'm going to minimize that, but I'd be glad to sketch it in if it looked more like Seven-Up . . .

"Now those telephone wires . . . the line goes over there, and it says a bit here, and, see, here's a looping section. . . These touches are real and they give a picture realism. . . Now, I put in a swinging line here, and a shadow here, and Charles—there's your picture! I had a lot of fun doing that one!"

And—as always—I had a lot of fun listening to Bill, my new, exciting partner.

Stamps May be Cheaper at Home

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Claude P. Edwards, superintendent of mails, received from Illinois an order for $10.50 worth of stamps.

The order came from a woman who formerly worked in Kansas City and whose husband is serving at an Army post in Illinois.

"I wouldn't spend a cent in this God-forsaken place," the woman wrote.

Pravda Charges Zoo Animals Go Hungry

MOSCOW (AP)—The animals in the Moscow Zoo are roaring and howling louder than usual and the newspaper Moscow Pravda said accounts are valued at 22 million Saturday it is because they are pesos—at the official rate of exchange $22 million.

The paper, organ of the Moscow region Communist Party, charged blow to the family that once dominated the economic life of the nation for food for the animals and bought 5,000 copies of a pamphlet entitled "Among Animals and Birds" for distribution to zoo visitors. Author of the pamphlet: The zoo director, said Moscow Pravda.

Science at Work

Glenn Waits Few Steps From Chimp's Quarters

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The push to orbit a U.S. astronaut before the end of the year, some curious facts about space-going chimpanzees, and saving calories in weightlessness are subjects for science at work:

Next!

U.S. Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., at 40 the oldest of the seven American space candidates, may be the first to orbit the earth. He is now lodged in the astronaut ready room at Cape Canaveral, Fla., waiting for his chance which may come before New Year's Day.

Glenn's quarters in Hangar 3 on the sprawling missile base are only a few steps away from the area where space-going chimpanzees Enos and Ham were prepared for their space flights. Newer, more complete astronaut quarters are being planned for the cape.

Enos and Brethren

Chimpanzees, like Enos and Ham, are mightier than men in many ways.

The men who handle the space chimpanzees say that these apes are 4½ times as strong as men of similar weight. Chimpanzees have been found which stand up to 5½ feet tall, and have an arm spread of 6 feet.

Although the average life span of chimpanzees is usually in the thirties, some have been known to live 45 years. Most of the space chimpanzees are young—5 to 6 years old, and small—about 40 pounds.

Space Diet

An astronaut—gliding in weightlessness through space—will probably need no more than some 2,400 calories a day in meals, a scientist suggests.

At work, the space pilot's efforts that on earth would cost some 216 calories per hour working against gravity, would cost only 144 calories an hour in weightlessness.

Under normal gravity on earth, a space pilot resting, but awake, would use 94 calories an hour, but would use only 85 calories an hour resting and awake without gravity to contend with.

Sleeping, on earth or in space, the cost in calories is about the same—some 65 calories an hour, said Dr. Carsbie C. Adams, president of the National Research and Development Corp.

Hot Stuff in Space

A spacecraft—venturing toward the moon — will be speeding through showers of cosmic rays or huge bands of radiation. But the space pilot may come from the thin walls of his spacecraft where some of the radiation is trapped.

Bendix Corp. scientists, calculating radiation danger, say that some of the high energy articles speeding through space will strike the spacecraft's hull and transfer some of their energy to atoms in the hull.

These atoms then become excited and emit lower grade radiation over a longer period of time. This sort of hazard could be greater than if the high energy particle had passed right through the body of the space pilot at full strength.

Children Can Do as They Like In Hospital

No Urging Needed To Make Youngsters Eat Meals While Sick

If a child wants to dip his carrots in mustard, he can and no one looks pained. If he wants to eat his dessert first, he may, for desserts are not considered as rewards.

Eating with fingers, spilled food and food-decorated faces are not causes for alarm.

These are some of the practices that help assure that meals will be eaten by the small patients at Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago. They are described in two articles in Hospitals, Journal of the American Hospital Association.

Child's Viewpoint
Herman Frederic Meyer, M.D., associate attending physician at the hospital and associate professor of pediatrics at Northwestern University Medical School, cautioned hospital personnel to consider the child's viewpoint as well as his nutritional needs in preparing his meals.

The most nutritionally complete meal may be placed on a hospital tray, but unless the child eats it, "all of the well-meaning and academically correct dietary calculations are in vain," Dr. Meyer said.

The hospitalized child frequently presents eating problems because he is away from home, is emotionally upset, and may not be accustomed to the "alien" food of the hospital. His acceptance of food can be promoted by cheerful surroundings, by attention to his food likes and dislikes, and by personnel who combine warmth with wisdom, Dr. Meyer said.

Perhaps the most important factor is the selection of personnel who are child-oriented and who understand and like children. They must be able to view a situation through a child's eyes. This is especially important, Dr. Meyer said, since very young children do not talk, those a little older do not express themselves adequately, and older children may be comparatively inarticulate.

Mrs. Beverly Schmidt, chief dietitian at the hospital, in an interview reported in the Journal, said the nurses at the hospital encourage self-help and independence in a child's eating, but when necessary offer help, such as cutting a sandwich into smaller pieces.

Nurses are advised not to "push" food during the first day or so of the child's hospital stay, when his feeling of strangeness and his physical condition often keep him from eating. Mrs. Schmidt said. Later, however, if a child is not eating, the nurses are urged to seek the causes, perhaps by talking with his mother about his likes and dislikes.

Mrs. Schmidt and her staff do not think table manners are important, nor do they frown on unconventional food combinations. They are primarily interested in seeing that a child eats.

Second servings are freely allowed. If a child finishes one portion of a food, he may have another serving of that food, even if he has not eaten all other foods served.

If a child is "playing with his food," he is offered help and encouraged to continue eating. If he does not respond, the tray is removed.

Inside Labor

Hoffa Oddly Silent On East-West Issue

BY VICTOR RIESEL

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. — Jimmie Hoffa went into seclusion here just about the moment Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg promised, in clipped words laid down like distant mortar fire, that Berlin would still be a free city on July 4, 1962. There is no doubt the secretary would not have pledged this without the president's permission.

And I believe there is a relationship between Hoffa's seclusion and Goldberg's words.

Goldberg, referring to a meeting of the high council of all free labor throughout the world, said:

"It is to your honor and the honor of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions that you have scheduled your Seventh World Congress in the still free city of Berlin. And to those who may doubt the possibility of holding such a major convocation of free trade unionism in this beleaguered outpost of the free world, let me assure you that Berlin — free Berlin — will still be standing when the representatives of the free trade unions assemble on July 4, 1962."

President Views
"Let me assure you that the people of free Berlin are not for sale. Their lives and their liberties are not on any bargaining table. The President of the United States has made it clear that free Berlin will remain free. That is a free world commitment not subject to threat or negotiation. And when we talk about Berlin, let us remember this not a struggle for real estate with an offer to subdivide for a suitable tenant."

"I say that freedom has a long lease on free Berlin and that the staff at Children's Memorial Hospital believes that "eating is an experience that brings the child closer to a secure feeling in the hospital than anything else should be done to encourage him to eat and to make mealtime pleasant."

freedom will not be breached by any ambitious lease-breaker or hopeful landlord."

This guarantee was given by Goldberg to the Fourth Constitutional Convention of the AFL-CIO. The outburst from the audience was spontaneous. The applause rolled longer and louder than the dispirited handclapping which greeted his attack on corruption.

The delegates' response to Goldberg's pledge of continued freedom this side of the wall immediately brought to the minds of some observers a very basic difference between most of the AFL-CIO leaders and Jimmie Hoffa. And for the moment it has nothing to do with muscle.

There is no room inside the AFL-CIO for Jimmie Hoffa because he has not publicly evidenced one whit of concern over the East-West struggle.

There is no room for the bellicose Jimmie who has aligned himself with a man such as Harry Bridges, leader of the West Coast longshoremen. Bridges' public writings reveal that he believes we, the U.S., are responsible for what has happened in Berlin.

But if all this just weren't sufficient, there is no room in the AFL-CIO for a man or his organization both of which are tied to Bridges, who believes we are just not doing right by Fidel Castro who has wiped out Cuba's free labor movement.

There is over in Miami a group of Cubans who were outraged by some of Bridges' recent statements. These Cuban freedom fighters would be heartbroken as well as heartsick if the ally of Bridges were admitted or even invited into the AFL-CIO.

When Bridges wrote Dean Rusk asking for a passport for a fraternal trip to the official Soviet-type labor front convention of Cuban "unions," he said in part:

"As you know, there is much confusion among American unionists about conditions in Cuba. We wish to make this trip to observe the situation there."

No Word From Hoffa
This permission was denied as "not in the best interests of the U.S." So said the state department.

This brought from Bridges, partner in many industrial pacts with Jim Hoffa, the following:

"When we are not allowed to see first hand, we draw our own conclusions. Our conclusion is that most of the tremendous advances made under the Castro regime are being concealed."

Surely this should have brought some reply, even renunciation from Jim Hoffa. But there was none.

So there is more than just muscle that stands in the way of Hoffa's getting past the national AFL-CIO leadership. Hoffa won't get past. The leadership will say that anybody can apply for membership. All they have to do is meet the qualifications — and those qualifications do not include friendship with Harry Bridges or any other Castro-loving outfit.

And, by the way, would not Mr. Hoffa want to make a statement on Berlin and Cuba? So many of us would print it.

Only a Handful of Senators Have Working Knowledge of Tax Bill

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Struggle as it may seem after the long months of the most intensive public argument and publicity on the tax revision issue in general and six weeks of daily wrangling lately in the assembly on the compromise revision bill, only a handful of senators claim to be familiar with the measure that will be on their calendars for preliminary action Tuesday morning.

It is largely because the upper house members have such a cloudy acquaintance with the subject that they have been chary of commenting on it and that sideline observers cannot judge with even reasonable certainty what the outcome will be.

The issue of the Senate from this noisy issue is not wholly typical. This is the most perilous political issue of the session, and many of the men of the upper house were hoping against hope that it would somehow collapse in the assembly and that they would not be required to commit themselves. But they hoped in vain. They must stand up to be counted now.

A politician's career often depends upon his ability to maintain a position in his party and in relation to potential rivals for his ultimate objective. The situation of Gerald Lorge, the Republican senator for Outagamie County, may illustrate the point currently.

Lorge is talking about running against Sen. Alexander Wiley for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator, who is regarded by most of the Republicans as being virtually a sure thing for a fifth nomination. The chances are, as the insiders see it, that Lorge has no illusions about his chances but is interested instead in getting the party used to him as a senatorial candidate some day — after Wiley.

Assemblyman John Gray of Antigo, who resigned from the Democratic party during the assembly debate on Gov. Nelson's sales tax bill, has not yet said he will become a Republican.

He is now making jokes among his colleagues about the "Independent" party in the legislature, consisting of himself.

Most of his seat-mates believe Gray wants to return to the county sheriff's office at home.

The state welfare administration has decided that the fourth colony for the care of mentally retarded children probably should be built near the Winnebago State Hospital north of Oshkosh in Winnebago County, where the state already holds a considerable acreage.

The fourth state hospital for mental defectives, talked about for a decade, is now positively listed among the high priority building projects of the welfare department — if the legislature provides the money.

In the publicity emphasis upon new tax legislation the fact has been subordinated that what appeared to be the most determined drive in years to reform the distribution of state utility tax collections has utterly failed.

Such demands always failed in the past also, but this year Gov. Nelson and the Democrats had insisted repeatedly that they would settle for nothing less in the way of tax revision than the elimination of some of the "tax islands" resulting from the existing distribution formula. Most of the tax islands that irritated the reformers have resulted from the utility tax sharing system, which favors the locality in which utility plants happen to be located.

The present plan of the state senate Republican leadership is to hold Gov. Nelson's nomination of Gilbert Rohde, Farmers Union president, for a seat on the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents in the senate education committee indefinitely.

If Rohde wants a senate confirmation vote, his friends will be required to move for the recall of the nomination to the floor.

If such a motion is not made, Rohde could sit as a member of the board without confirmation, because he was chosen to fill a vacant seat. But if there is a new governor elected next fall, he would replace Rohde by nominating another man in 1963. Normally a regent serves a nine year term.

Slips of the tongue are frequent among legislative politicians. The other day Deputy Speaker Willis Hutnik of Tony, who is an office supply dealer in private life, was presiding in the assembly when he wanted to announce that the house would move on to the calendar for the next day.

"We will now proceed to Friday's catalogue," he droned.

Assemblyman Harvey Dueholm of Polk County has been one of the most severe critics of the drive for the exemption of pleasure boats from personal property taxation, which has now succeeded.

A thrifty and prosperous farmer, Dueholm grumbled that many persons are buying boats on the time payment plan that are far beyond their means.

They don't need exemptions," he scoffed. "They need a psychiatrist."

Those legislators who have made demands for a more prudent program of state budget expenditures will probably draw some comfort from a tabulation of state employee and state payroll trends just published by the state department of administration.

The number of state officers and employees from 1947 to this year has grown from 13,383 to 29,427.

More spectacular has been the expansion of payrolls through the period of inflation. The state in 1947 was paying $3,016,000 a month for the services of all of its workers; today the total is nearly $12,000,000, and growing at a steady pace.

Democrats will launch their 1962 campaign effort formally when the annual county party chairman's "school" is held in Milwaukee Jan. 26.

Chairman Patrick Lacey has invited National Chairman John Bailey as one of the "lecturers" in the conduct of campaigns, and is hopeful that he will come.

When some of Gov. Nelson's aides were exuberantly predicting quick senate concurrence in the Nelson compromise sales tax and income tax bill following assembly approval the other day, they reminded one gallery observer of many years of a story.

A sally, cautious old politician was riding on a train through the sheep country of the West when his seat-mate companionably observed:

"Those sheep have recently been sheared."

The old fellow looked, reflected, and finally replied:

"On this side, at least."

The issue of compelling all counties to join the state retirement fund to provide retirement benefits for their officers and employees has been resolved in the legislature, but Columbia County is starting a lawsuit to determine the validity of the requirement for prior service credits for such beneficiaries. The outlook for a court ruling against the statute is doubtful, however, according to most estimates.

Church Explosion Kills 10-Year-Old

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Ala. (AP) —An explosion demolished a rural church and killed a 10-year-old boy who had arrived early for Sunday school. The blast injured five others, including the boy's mother, a brother and a sister.

"There'd have been 75 inside if it had been 15 minutes later," said Russell Morgan, who lives beside the little church in this northeast Alabama community.

Morgan's nephew, David Morgan, was killed in the explosion, which occurred when the Sunday school superintendent, John Sizemore, tried to light a heater.

Avoid Glass Breakage! NOTICE

We want to pass along this advice to our many friends to help them avoid some mistakes made by others in the past which resulted in unnecessary glass breakage. Some of this advice applies all year 'round; however, it applies particularly during the Holiday Season. Please benefit by the mistakes of others so it doesn't happen to you.

PLEASE DON'T set lighted Christmas Decoration within eight inches of Plate Glass or Thermopane in picture windows. Even a small light bulb gives off some heat and when it is directed on a small area of cold glass it causes local expansion which can result in unnecessary breakage.

PLEASE DON'T place Christmas posters, pictures, or cardboard against the inside of Thermopane at any time of the year. These objects can prevent the sun's rays from passing through, thereby building up local heat and expansion of glass and possible breakage because of the strain on the glass.

PLEASE DON'T paint Christmas scene (especially dark colors) on your picture windows. Any opaque material, such as paint, paper, cardboard, can obstruct the passing of the sun's heat rays and cause breakage.

PLEASE DON'T forget to raise window shades on Thermopane windows on the East side of your home before retiring for the night. When early morning sun strikes cold glass, heat is quickly built up and when drawn shades act as heat retainers the Thermopane may crack. In fact, if your shades are hung too close to the glass, it is better to set them out farther to permit a larger air space and to permit more generated solar heat to escape at the ends and the top.

PLEASE DO stop and see the fine selection of Plate Glass Mirrors for mantels, davenport, vanities and doors. Be sure to take advantage of the many fine practical Christmas gift items in our store, such as Glass Tops, Glass Shelves, Shower Doors, Tub Enclosures, Mirror Waste Baskets, Glass Block Vases, etc.

Catholics Say Aid Legal for Church Schools

Writing Claims That Government Can Provide Funds

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON —An important document has just been issued by the Roman Catholic Church in America which can have a significant impact on the legislative program of the next session of Congress. It can affect also the battles of the politicians in the congressional elections next November.

It can have a far-reaching influence, moreover, on the size and nature of the financial aid given to education by the federal government in the years to come. It is a rebuttal of the legal analysis by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare submitted to Congress earlier this year.

The new memorandum, which is more than 16,000 words long, was issued by the legal department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference here after it had received the "independent critical analysis of a number of constitutional scholars and lawyers."

What is treated is something the same group has not stressed so much heretofore, namely, that the argument for federal aid to education as a national policy is based on a "nationally felt need" in the "cold war" and on the attainment of important objectives at home—the conquering of disease and poverty, the improvement of cities, the advance of industry, the increase of useful invention, all of which "supply additional imperatives to America's new effort to educate its young."

The idea is emphatically rebutted that non-state school's "somehow do not perform a public service." A warning is given that this type of argument "points the way to a totalitarian society" which could begin by forcing church-related education out of the American scene and "the end could be a totally sovietized state."

The point is made that Catholic parochial schools today "are performing the public service of educating 18.6 per cent of all children in elementary and secondary schools" and that taxpayers generally have been spared in the last ten years the added burden of approximately $13.9 billion for education. The document says:

"This study is not a brief on behalf of the principle of federal aid to education. But it would appear undeniable that so far as the question is one of policy and not of constitutional law, if the federal government offers aid to public education, aid should similarly be offered to church-related education."

Tackles Issues
The memorandum then tackles the constitutional issues and flatly claims support from decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States for its conclusions that aid to education not directly related to any sectarian religion is constitutional. The so-called "separation of church and state," it is argued, merely means that our founding fathers forbade Congress to make any law establishing a preferred religion and that, if it meant withholding any aid from church-related schools, then Congress in the past and President Kennedy as well as his predecessors in the White House have been inconsistent.

For they have advocated certain forms of aid to church-related colleges. Congress has provided grants, loans, scholarships, aid to science laboratories, and tuition grants, irrespective of religion, to Korean veterans and to page boys of the Congress and of the Supreme Court itself. Already expenses for transportation, police and fire protection, sewage facilities and similar aids have been held constitutional, even though given to church schools.

Decision after decision of the Supreme Court of the United States is cited and quotations given to support the view that the first amendment affirms the right of "free exercise" of religion and that Congress cannot put obstacles in the way of using the "separation" doctrine. Indeed, the famous desegregation case of 1954 is cited to show that the high court took into account psychological and cultural factors in ruling against "separate but equal" school facilities for whites and Negroes. While the brief insists that parents shall not be impeded in their efforts to give their children religious training and agrees that public schools should not teach sectarian religion, the thought is advanced that, broadly speaking, the public schools do teach religion through "the development of moral and spiritual values."

The memorandum says: "Notably the supreme court in the Zorach case made it clear that the constitution does not require in all respects a separation of church and state and that the state may in numerous ways accommodate its programs to the religious interests of its citizens and institutions."

"The providing of secular education is unquestionably a public service and may be financed with public monies. It is equally unquestionable that secular education is provided in private non-profit schools, church-related as well as non-denominational."

"Here it should be noted that the religious aspect in church-

Tshombe Will Speak To U. S. Conservatives
NEW YORK (AP) — Moise Tshombe, president of the Congo's secessionist Katanga Province, has accepted an invitation by Young Americans for Freedom to speak at a rally here March 7.

Carve Artificial Snow Bricks Into Tree Figures

BY CAPPY DICK
Bricks of artificial snow which man until he looks exactly as you want him to be (Figure 3). Draw his eyes, nose and mouth with clever Christmas tree ornaments. All you have to do is slice the brick into thin pieces and from them cut stars, bells, angels, snow men and Santa Claus figures.

ures. Press a wire through each object, form it into a loop and tie it to the Christmas tree with thread.

To be sure the figure you carve will be of the correct proportions when completed, outline it with pencil on the artificial snow. Figure 1 shows the outline of a snow man. With a paring knife, cut down through the block of snow, following the outline closely. The snow man will then look like Figure 2. Cut off any unwanted, sharp corners, rounding the snow man until he looks exactly as you want him to be (Figure 3). Draw his eyes, nose and mouth with clever Christmas tree ornaments. The cane on his arm is a little peppermint stick.

An easy way to make flat decorations, saving you quite a bit of carving, is to do the cutting with cookie cutters. Slice the snow brick into thin pieces. Press a cookie cutter down on each piece as the boy and girl are doing in Figure 5. Put a loop of wire through each ornament as shown in Figure 4 and it is ready for hanging on your Christmas tree. Taxes Not Painful After Retirement

BY THOMAS COLLINS

The coming of Christmas and the year's end will bring to you—if you are past 60—some contemplations about retirement.

Following is a list designed to give you a bit of nourishment for your thoughts:

Taxes — After retirement you'll not find income taxes too painful if your only income is Social Security and a pension. But you had better watch all forms of real estate taxes if you have a home in a community where many children are coming up to school age, or a new community that needs sidewalks and storm sewers. Bond issues can break your back. Also keep an eye cocked toward any personal property taxes (car, furniture and Mama's rings) or toward intangible taxes (any stocks and bonds).

Social Security — Ignorance on this matter is profound, despite all the efforts of newspapers to explain it. Your Social Security benefits at 62 or 65, and your wife's benefits at the same ages, are near little pieces of information that only a Social Security office can give you. Your neighbors can't. Your friends can't. Your company can come close, but even it can't — only a Social Security office can.

Contact Office — You should contact the Social Security office nearest your home (look in the phone book or ask at the Post Office). Go there and ask questions. Don't be embarrassed. It's YOUR money.

Life Insurance — Many people approaching retirement have life insurance policies that provide you with what they needed at 35 or 45, and remain slightly hard to get. You should examine your policy. You will fare best, but still not as well, if you find the provisions of them no longer what you want. You should contact the companies that issued the policies as you will, it may be a reassurance and consider conversions that are once to you to know that nearly open to you. Annuities, perhaps, all other retired parents do, too. Annuities — What they pay will differ with your age, how much money you put into them, and whether or not you want to leave money to your heirs. Your life insurance company has the answers.

Hunger — You have little choice if your retirement income will not be enough to support you. You can appeal to family or friends for help, or you can apply to the Welfare Department of the county. You can find it by asking at the Court House or at the City Hall. Bite your lip if you must, but if you need help in retirement do not hesitate to go to Public Welfare. Several people have been there before you.

Investments — All sorts of oddball information floats around retirement circles about how much money you can make on your savings. As a rule, as of right now, a retired person should be satisfied with about 4 per cent interest on savings. This could be in conservative securities recommended by a reputable investment broker. It could be in insured savings and loan associations. Don't reach for more than about 4 per cent unless you are prepared to take the bus to the poorhouse.

Happiness In You — Moving — Happiness is in you, not in where you live. Happiness with a suntan is a bit more pleasant than happiness on ice.

Jobs — For people in their 60's there are virtually no jobs except high-level consultant jobs which executives get, and jobs nobody else will take, such as watching a crossing, guarding a warehouse or selling notions behind a counter.

Your Children — Don't expect too much. You'd better expect a little less than you expect now. Adult children are terribly busy, terribly ambitious and very hungry for money. If you hold on to insurance policies that provide you with what they needed at 35 or 45, and remain slightly hard to get. You should examine your policy. You will fare best, but still not as well, if you find the provisions of them no longer what you want. You should contact the companies that issued the policies as you will, it may be a reassurance and consider conversions that are once to you to know that nearly open to you. Annuities, perhaps, all other retired parents do, too. Annuities — What they pay will differ with your age, how much

Russia Can Never Catch Up To America Or Overtake Her

BY WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

LONDON — How can Nikita Khrushchev keep on talking about "overtaking America?"

That question keeps pestering you as you travel popeyed and amazed through the homeland after being away for several years. The only possible answer is the obvious one—he is simply fooling the comrades; he can't possibly believe his own nonsense.

Americans who have been living in the United States during these recent years certainly appreciate the fact that changes enough have been taking place. Some of them over-advertise the signs of that steamboat way back before the progress and forget about the smudges on the picture.

But nobody who hasn't been away for a long time can enjoy the sensation of spellbound pride thing that overwhelms the returning native as he wanders about the country.

The most impressive thing of all is as old as the Rocky Mountains —America's God-given beauty. But you can't appreciate that fully, either, unless you have been away from it.

Can't Match

A month in the high country of Wyoming and Idaho, fishing the North Platte, the Snake and the Salmon rivers with snow streak peaks sticking up into the blue and west and south. Four years ago the place is still a mess. This happy change is offset by the fact that O'Hare Airport is still a clutter of half finished construction operations without even adequate eating facilities for the airport staff.

Europeans may argue that their struction operations without even adequate eating facilities for the airport staff.

when you start for the far west college boys and girls seem a lot more serious than they were back in the twenties.

After Europe the drinking habits of the American people are shocking. There are too many women lushing it up in too many noisy joints. Even the best Scotch whiskey loses part of its flavor because it runs 86 proof —compared to the European level of 80 proof.

Many of the big-city hotels resemble railroad stations. You get tired of begging overworked room clerks for accommodations and wading through endless swarms of convention delegates.

Cooking Swell

The home cooking is swell and it is a joy to find that a train like the Capitol Limited has the same wonderful food it had 40 years ago. But a lot of the fancy eating joints leave you cold as well as broke. You find yourself concentrating on those old sure things—beacon and eggs, club sandwiches and hamburgers.

People are too serious. It may be our failing memory but it's our impression that people used to smile a lot more and take things a lot more easily. They also talk too much about sickness, both their own and other peoples'.

These random complaints have nothing to do with the basic fact. In one man's opinion at least the United States is the most wonderful place on earth, so far ahead friends that the school system of Communist Russia that the two isn't getting the attention it places shouldn't even be mentioned. At the same time the Christmas is the season for dinners, parties, dances and festivities. Saturday evening Twilight Dance Club members attended a gala holiday ball at 41 Bowl. A week ago the Stardusters danced and dined at an Old Fashioned Christmas party at Legion Memorial Building.

Cocktail parties at members' homes preceded the festive event. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Melby were general chairmen and were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rougeau, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Dickerman, Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Slater and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Verhoeven.

his turn comes, but he has developed the habit of making impossible contracts.

Nobody could truthfully say that Murray underbid the South hand. His partner's jump to three hearts was merely invitational, English style, rather than as strong as in standard American bidding systems.

Rightly or wrongly, Murray got to four hearts and was doubled for his sins. The opponents could take a diamond, two clubs and the ace of trumps. But this is where Murray's habit turned out to be useful. The opponents failed to take all of their tricks.

Expert Opponents
 The opponents were no slouches. West was John R. Crawford, and East was George Raapee. Both have won many national championships and each has won three world championships.

Crawford led the king of diamonds, and Murray took the ace. He led a trump, and Crawford stepped up with the ace.

Now what? Would you lead the queen of diamonds from the West hand? That's the only play to beat the contract, but it certainly doesn't look appetizing from West's point of view.

With any other lead, West never gets his diamond trick. Dummy's ten of clubs becomes good, and declarer throws his losing diamond on it.

When the hand was played, Crawford failed to cash the king of diamonds, and Murray made the doubled game contract. If the Canadian can keep his habit in the world championships next February, we might bring the Bermuda Bowl back to this side of the Atlantic.

useless. Avoid attaching much importance to an unguarded Q-J — although they turned out to be useful in this hand.

Perfect Party Dressing. Every lovely hopes to look her best on gala evenings. But naturally! Is Several days before an occasion, make a thorough check of the costume you intend to wear, down to the last detail—lingerie, stockings, jewelry, purse, gloves. Then refurbish needy items. Instant!

When you are wearing a new dress, hold a tryout. Put on the works—lingerie, dress, accessories and make-up. After the "ball," recheck the costume and immediately attend to necessary repairs.

Be forehanded, moreover, about your hair and manicure. Leaving either to the last minute most often results in a bungle or a rush.

So prepared, you are halfway to a charming appearance. Dressing techniques account for the other half. Allow thirty minutes to dress, no less and perhaps a little more. But remember that neither dawdling nor rushing produces the finish you're after. It is achieved only by an efficient routine, such as this one:

1. Take a leisurely bath and cologne rubdown. 2. Don all clothing, except dress. 3. Arrange hair and cap it in a net. 4. Make-up, and review the effect in a strong light. 5. Slip into dress and jewelry. 6. Remove net. 7. Inspect head-to-toe appearance from all angles.

Our Children
Children are Responsible
For Aged Parents Welfare

BY ANGELO PATRI

Should grownup children feel any responsibility for their elderly parents' comfort and welfare now that they have Social Security? This question arose out of a discussion concerning such responsibility and one man, a public official, said that they should not feel any such duty because the government took care of such cases. Imagine calling one's parents cases.

That anybody, anybody at all, in this country, should take such a position is startling. The family is the unit of our way of life, not the government. The bonds that unite a family are not the material ones, though they, too, are needed. The real ones are the intangible ones, the things that cannot be supplied by money, never have been, and never will be; but, because of them, money, when necessary, is supplied, ungrudgingly. A father and mother of medium financial ability rear four or so children, send them to school, to college if they will go, and live in rented quarters while doing so. Ever calculate how much money goes into the rearing of one child, support for him until he can take over for himself? How much can such parents save for their old age? It wouldn't pay the first hospital bill. Social security without a family backlog does not mean much to elderly parents who gave their lives to the rearing of their children.

Children Need Educating
The present day management by the government can be misunderstood by some selfish ones. There should be some education on the matter by the authorities who manage social services like relief and social security, so that children already inclined to forget their parental obligation learn their duties have not been taken over by the government.

If might be well to remind such mistaken people of the years of unselfish devotion their parents served for them, without grudging of time, labor, health and comfort, and tell them it is their turn. A handkerchief on Mothers' Day and a tie on Fathers' Day is not what is needed in either relationship.

Your Problems
Ann Suggests More Than Trout
Marinated at Gourmet Parties

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband belongs to a gourmet club. They meet every two weeks for a late supper (men only) to study the preparation of food.

For several months now Paul has been coming home from these meetings after midnight. The meeting last night didn't end until 4 a. m. He said, "I asked him this morning what in the world kept him out so late and he said it takes time to prepare fine food. Last night's specialty was a Finnish dish — marinated trout. Paul claims it takes five hours of careful watching to prepare this dish because the trout must be turned every fifteen minutes if he nags her long enough. When she says no he just keeps at her until she changes her answer. I have to give in to him all the time. He screams and kicks until my mother orders me to give in, because she can't stand the noise. The other evening I had some girl friends over and we were watching a TV show. He kept changing the channel. I finally told him to keep his hands off the set or leave the room. He called my mother and threw such a fit that she made me change the channel to the show he wanted. I was humiliated to death in front of my guests.

What advice can you give me?
— Sister

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 13 years old and turning into a nervous wreck. My little brother is six. He can get anything he wants from Mom if he nags her long enough. When she says no he just keeps at her until she changes her answer. I have to give in to him all the time. He screams and kicks until my mother orders me to give in, because she can't stand the noise. The other evening I had some girl friends over and we were watching a TV show. I was humiliated to death in front of my guests.

What advice can you give me?
— Sister

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Since you are forever harping on the subject of a separate roof for every family I'd like to listen to you. I hope you will show your mother this column. If she would like details, ask her to write to me.

My husband passed away three months ago. My children decided I should not be alone. My home is on three acres of land. I have seven bedrooms, a cook, a housekeeper and a maid. My son and his family (3 children) are moving in with me next week. My daughter, her husband and their two children are moving into the annex as soon as it is completed. We are all looking forward to living together with great pleasure. Everyone is thrilled. So you

Dear Mother: Write to me a year from today and tell me if everyone is still thrilled.
Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jackie Raises Cheers on South American Journey

BY FRANCES LEWINE

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy settles down for a Christmas holiday rest in Palm Beach today with her children after scoring another personal success in Colombia and Venezuela.

The First Lady reportedly was fatigued from the hectic pace of the 6,300-mile trip to Latin America. She had kept up a steady pace for some 18 hours on the Colombia leg of the presidential trip. The day before in Caracas it was 16 hours.

She and the President entered Bogota to a tremendous reception from a half million or more cheering, flag-waving, enthusiastic Colombians who showered them with confetti and flower petals.

Adds to Successes
Mrs. Kennedy gathered crowds of many thousands as she went to visit a charity children's hospital. Men, women and children, some of whom had waited for hours, turned out to catch a glimpse of her.

Mrs. Kennedy early this year had won acclaim in Canada, France, Austria and Great Britain on official visits with the President. There was no doubt she had added Colombia and Venezuela to her list of successes.

The crowds in Bogota shouted "Look! Look!" and "What a beauty!" as they caught sight of the 32-year-old First Lady of the United States in a gay yellow wool suit and matching straw hat. Even though Mrs. Kennedy's schedule ran two hours behind, the crowds waited for her.

She changed her costume four times for her public appearances in Bogota.

She and the President shook hands with some 400 guests at an evening reception in their honor at San Carlos Palace, the historic 16th century residence of Colombia's President Alberto Lleras Camargo.

Mrs. Kennedy, who is fond of antiques, told Latin Americans she has long admired their culture.

First Ladies Get Together
The final black tie dinner on the Kennedy's schedule was held in the palace dining room, a long, stately chamber with massive mahogany beamed ceilings decorated with gold and royal red. Mrs. Kennedy was a striking figure in a turquoise silk evening gown, ankle length, with beading at the hemline and on a matching stole.

During the trip that started at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Mrs. Kennedy was entertained by three first ladies of the Americas—Mrs. Luis Munoz Marin, wife of the governor of Puerto Rico; Mrs. Romulo Betancourt in Venezuela and Mrs. Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia. She tried out her Spanish on all of them.

Twice she used Spanish in public talks and won delighted applause.

There was one special fashion footnote on the trip. Mrs. Kennedy arrived in Colombia wearing a pale yellow-green coat dress, double-breasted and empire line with a bow in front, by the young California designer Gustave Tassell. Harp, Mrs. Irvin Hauser, Mrs. Henry Herbeck, Mrs. Iva Holzschuh, Mrs. Norbert Holzschuh, Mrs. Roman Holzschuh, Mrs. Jake Horn, Mrs. Matt Huh, Mae Keating and Mrs. Edward Jansch.

Choral singers are getting louder, the tree has been ordered and suddenly the most exciting time of the year is upon us.

Surely every homemaker in the world is asking herself: What have I forgotten? Presents for the kids are stuffed away in every nook and cranny, and the larder seems bulging with goodies in reserve for dropper-inners. But still, it's a good idea to double check the list of vital necessities for the hospitable holidays.

The best place to start checking is the pantry. Be sure to have after-dinner mints, and dried fruits and nuts for bounteous little bowls around the house. Christmas cookies for tea times, and plenty of candy canes for the kiddies.

Also wise to have on hand are a few extra stocking stuffers, little gifts to delight unexpected guests. Extra gift wraps come in handy at the last minute, too. So do plenty of candles to add to the general household glow.

Cocktail Accessories

And speaking of glow — better check your bar equipment. Lots of holiday visitors prefer a variety of cocktails, and it's a clever lass who has provided a well-stocked collection of prepared cocktail mixes to which one adds a favorite brand of liquor.

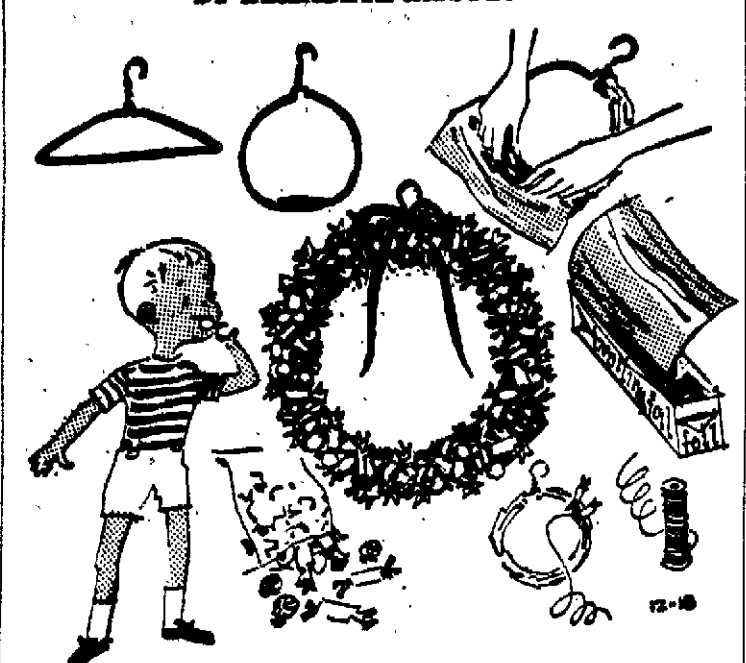

Other bar accessories to stock up on include toothpicks, coasters, cocktail napkins, swizzle sticks; and don't forget plenty of cocktail onions, olives and cherries, along with jars of ever-popular nibbly hors d'oeuvres.

Now you should be ready for a luncheon, tea-party, cocktail party or midnight visit.

Designing Woman

Sparkling Candy Wreath

This wreath is made of candy — the brightest fruit balls to be found, and chewy candies wrapped in the most glittering colored metal foils. It doesn't take long to see how enchanting the wreath is once the candies, plus a wire coat hanger, heavy kitchen foil and green thread-covered wire are assembled — it's easier to make than might be guessed from the following directions.

Since the best wreath size is smaller than the circle a coat hanger bends into, decrease the circle two to three inches by looping the wire against itself, as the sketch shows. This is easier than cutting the wire and attaching sharp ends to each other, and can be done with pliers. The heavy foil wrapped around the wire and crushed to it, as illustrated, makes a substantial foundation for the candies. Bind them on with the green wire by one end of the cellophane or foil they are wrapped in at the point where it twists. Attach two or three candies at a time, and wind the wire continuously around the foundation, covering it fully in front and leaving the back flat.

Jerry Lewis Under Suspension, Studio Files Injunction

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A process server pursued comedian Jerry Lewis onto the golf course to give him legal notice that he can't work for anyone else while under suspension by his studio.

York Pictures Corp., owned by Paramount Studios, suspended Lewis last week because he didn't report to work on a new film. The firm filed suit Saturday for an injunction to keep Lewis from working for any other studio.

go with it at the same time."

There's no need to settle for a standard rectangular rug. So many rugs are cut from continuous rolls of broadloom, which can be used to make rugs of any shape just as it is used for carpeting a floor fully. Ask the store to send a man to measure, and order the rug to cover the bay area as well as the rest of the floor.

Mrs. W. A. I.: "One bedroom in our new home will have sandalwood walls, a light green bed and white curtains. At least temporarily, we must use an old drawer chest and wonder if we should try to match the bed, give the chest a new wood finish or repaint both the bed and the chest the same new color. Will you advise us?"

Against sandalwood walls, the light green may look unattractively faded. If it does, give the bed and the chest stronger color. If the green isn't too weakened by the sandalwood, it may be easier to give the chest a new wood finish than to attempt a matching green, but the green should be repeated elsewhere in the scheme.

PET DOCTOR

Q. Our veterinarian diagnosed pyloric stenosis when our five month old boxer became ill. What is it? What is the cause? Al Foster, Maplewood, Mo.

A. Pyloric stenosis is a paralysis or tightening of muscles that control the outlet from the stomach. When a dog has this abnormality food cannot pass from the stomach to the intestines. With the outlet to the stomach closed by these constricted muscles, food comes back up. This is most often seen in young dogs of the short-nose breeds. It is usually necessary to x-ray the animal to make a correct diagnosis. Fortunately we are able to correct this condition. Sometimes use of drugs to relax the muscles will help. Generally, surgery must be performed and is almost always successful in alleviating the condition. I have not seen any case in which the symptoms have reappeared after surgery.

Harrison Merger With Appleton Goes To Voters Tuesday

Northwest Part of District Subject of Referendum

Another round in the battle over the attachment of the northwest portion of the Harrison School District to Appleton will take place Tuesday when residents of the city and its attached districts vote to approve or deny the attachment order.

One hundred and nine residents of the Harrison area petitioned for the referendum.

The north and western lakeshore area was attached to Appleton Oct. 31 by the joint Calumet and Outagamie county school committees, reversing an earlier decision which had denied a petition for attachment by a split vote.

The attachment is to take effect July 1. By state law all school districts must be in a high school district by that date or they will be placed in one by the county school committees.

Two Voting Units

Residents of Appleton and of the parts of the Town of Grand Chute and the Town of Harrison which are attached to Appleton for school purposes may vote in the referendum. The attachment must be approved by a majority of voters in both the city unit and the rural unit in order to remain effective.

There has been much controversy in the Town of Harrison over the attachment to Appleton, with strong feeling expressed in favor of joining Kaukauna or Kimberly. A portion of the Town of Sherwood has been attached to Hilbert, and the remainder of the town was attached to Kaukauna by the joint school committees last Tuesday.

Elementary students in the town now attend the Harrison School at Sherwood. High school students attend schools in six surrounding communities, with many in Kaukauna High School. There are about 60 elementary and 30 high school students in the area attached to Appleton.

"Hot Spot"

The Harrison District has been termed a "hot spot" in the area of school district reorganization, bringing to light many of the problems raised by the 1959 legislation.

When the school committees approved the Appleton attachment, they said it was "somewhat with tongue in cheek," explaining that they were not happy with the way the area was divided and there might be some redistribution later.

One of the main issues in the controversy over the Appleton attachment was the fate of the Harrison School. Opponents of the attachment feared that the school would be closed if so many students were taken out of it, while proponents said the school's future would still be secure because of normal growth. The school will now become part of the Kaukauna district.

The group which twice petitioned for attachment to Appleton said people in the lakeshore area are "Appleton-oriented" and so prefer attachment to the city system. The group also expressed preference for the courses and facilities offered by the Appleton schools.

Others in the district have favored a smaller school, fearing that their children would be "mere numbers" in a larger system.

Those favoring the attachment have said mileage tests show that every point in the attached area is closer to the proposed southeast Appleton High school, presently planned for operation in 1966, than to any other high school. Opponents dispute this.

Will Raise Problems

The attachment, if it becomes effective, will raise space and transportation problems for Appleton schools. Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz said students from the area would probably have to be taken to schools north of the river. Junior high students would attend Madison Junior High, as some are now doing on a tuition basis.

Discussion at the public hearings on the two petitions for attachment was heated, with each group claiming majority support in the area for its view. The original petition for attachment had 218 signatures, which the petitioners said included 92 per cent of the people living in the area.

Bid for Rezoning On W. Prospect Meets Opposition

A request by Erik Madisen Jr. for the rezoning of his land at 1500 W. Prospect St., met the opposition of a woman who lives near the land.

Mrs. John McHugh, 1308 W. Prospect St., felt her land should be rezoned with Madisen's if any rezoning was to be done.

The commission decided to reconsider the request at its first meeting in February.

Madisen, a member of the city park board, wants the land rezoned because he now operates a publishing business there, in violation of the city zoning ordinance. The city agreed to begin legal action against Madisen in October.

An October opinion by City Atty. Don Jurey stated that Madisen could operate the business as long as he lived on the premises. Madisen had lived there, but then moved to 1016 E. Vine St., changing his legal address.

Holy Mackerel, Ralph! Young Forecaster Is Giving Us 'Snow Job'

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Open letter to Ralph Dorn, 17, 136 N. Story St., youngest and most snow-prone weather forecaster in the business.

Dear Ralph:

Holy mackerel! there Andy! What are you doing anyway? What's with this snow bit?

You've been reporting the weather to the Post-Crescent since last Friday and what's happen? Every man jack of us is suffering from shovellitis. Snow shovellitis, that is. Much more of this white stuff, in fact, and the Fox Cities will become one huge red-cheeked ski patrol.

Enough my boy, is enough. Have you any idea what you've done by spinning your dials and pointing the indicators toward snow? Take the Post-Crescent, for instance. One of our staffers got lost in the snow so, with the weather being what it was, we sent a St. Bernard to the rescue. The dog came back this morning. The little barrel around its neck was empty and a note was pinned

Washington Guard Fears Unit Losses

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The adjutant general of the State of Washington says he's afraid the Washington National Guard will become "a broomstick army" because so much of its equipment is being transferred to Wisconsin's 32nd Division and other units.

Maj. Gen. George M. Haskett said a "tremendous amount" of the Washington unit's equipment has been given to the units called to federal service.

Nearly a third of the unit's rolling stock, including all the vehicles in some categories, have been ordered delivered by Dec. 20, Gen. Haskett said. Some 100 vehicles are involved, including trucks, ambulances, jeeps and trailers.

"We haven't been required to give up any guns or tanks yet," he said, "but I don't know what the future will bring."

"I'm afraid we're going to end up with a broomstick army if something doesn't happen soon."

Tax Issue Makes Filing Uncertain

Early Returns May Have to be Altered in April

MADISON — You can file your 1961 state income tax return before Dec. 31, in spite of the uncertainties about the rates that will be finally effective, if you insist upon doing so or if it is financially advantageous to you.

The personal state income tax liability of more than 1,500,000 Wisconsin residents won't be known until the conclusion of the legislative struggle about tax policy.

But the State Department of Taxation has ruled that it will accept as tentative all returns that are filed by Wisconsin residents before the end of the year. If the legislature ultimately decides to modify the rate schedule, by increasing the normal rates or by re-enacting the surtax, such early filing taxpayers can keep their accounts in order by filing amended returns at the regular time that taxes on 1961 earnings are due April 15.

A substantial number of taxpayers habitually double up their state tax payments in alternate years, for the advantage it gives them in deductions from their federal taxable income.

A person who filed his state tax return last April on 1960 income, and paid the taxes due, and pays his 1961 taxes during this calendar year, can derive some advantage from the doubling of the deduction because of the progressivity of the federal tax schedule.

Many other persons like to keep their personal financial affairs in tidy order and prefer to pay early, while many persons who spend the winter in southern vacation areas prefer to pay their taxes before they leave.

There is a strong chance, however, that the income tax rates now technically in effect will be changed before the legislative fight over tax revision is ended.

Salvation Army Gave Gifts to 933 Persons in 1960

Salvation Army volunteers spend some cold hours during the Christmas season in downtown booths, asking Appleton shoppers for contributions to help make Christmas happier for needy persons. In 1960 these contributions provided gifts, food and clothing for 933 individuals.

The Salvation Army in 1960 gave 82 food baskets and provided 354 dinners. They also gave 50 garments, 372 toys, 579 presents and 577 treats.

Members of the Salvation Army will again visit three county institutions with gifts and candy. Visits will be made to the River-view Sanatorium, the Outagamie County Hospital and the City Home.

Driver, Passenger Injured as Cars Crash at Corner

Two Appleton residents were hospitalized at 11:30 p.m. Saturday as the result of a two-car crash at Wisconsin Avenue and Mason Street.

Nicholas J. Fox, 58, 917 W. Oklahama St., received head and back injuries and Sarah Rosenberg, 51, 1015 1/2 W. Spencer St., a passenger in the Fox car, received face cuts.

Witnesses told police the Fox car was traveling south on Mason Street and failed to stop for the signal at Wisconsin Avenue. It was struck by a car driven by Wilmer V. Fickel, 30, 3316 W. Northland Ave.

The injured were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Larry's ambulance. Both have been released.

Post Office Hits Peak Load Today

No Deliveries Planned for Coming Christmas Weekend

Did you spend yesterday addressing Christmas cards? Then drop them in the mailbox on your way to work this morning?

If you did, you have lots of company. The post office today is expecting the largest single mail load in history—more than half a billion pieces—as the 1961 Christmas rush hits its peak.

Today will be the biggest day of this Christmas season for the Appleton Post Office, said Postmaster Francis Sumnicht. He estimated that 200,000 pieces of outgoing mail would be handled there today.

Record Day
But he doubted that it would hit the record day for the Appleton Post Office—also a Monday—when 260,000 pieces of outgoing mail and 250,000 pieces of incoming mail were handled in one day during a recent Christmas season.

National officials estimate a mail volume of four billion pieces—it could be six billion, they said—in the Christmas period that began Dec. 15.

The post office is braced for the deluge. But this is a "problem year," Sumnicht pointed out. With Christmas on Monday, the season is one day shorter than last year for the post office. No deliveries will be made on Sunday, Christmas Eve, or Monday, Christmas Day.

New System
To handle the flood of mail, the post office is using a new system, which it estimates will save ad- $5 million over the old system. It means adding 240,000 extra workers to the regular 580,000-man work force, compared with 293,000 extras last year, and using experienced employees on overtime. It also means once-a-day deliveries.

The Appleton Post Office tried this system last year, with excellent results, Sumnicht said. Offices which used it last year saved 22 per cent in costs for the Christmas rush, he said.

Two years ago, before the new system was tried, 150 extra workers were added for the Christmas rush, he said. Last year 110 were added, and this year only 35.

Sumnicht praised the co-operation of the community.

to it: "Send another dog." We're still looking for our boy.

One of our carriers was delivering his papers on a toboggan during the height of a recent storm (we forget which one, there have been so many, thanks to you). A snow plow came along, struck the toboggan and pushed it up into the teeth of the wind. The boy found his papers all right but they say the toboggan was recovered somewhere in the vicinity of Shiocton. You don't believe it? So maybe we slipped a little. Snow makes us do that.

People who drive cars aren't very happy with you, either. We know seven people who have those little foreign jobs. They are still looking for their cars.

Snow, my boy, is just dandy. Every town should have some, especially at this time of year. But great balls of fire! You've lost your head.

So come on, pal; give us fellows a break. All this snow is making us hot under the collar. Our advice sir; less snow is nicer.

Derber Guilty, Sentenced To Reformatory for Life

Judge Cane Rejects Insanity Plea In Decision Covering 12 Pages

BY ALLAN EKVALL

OSHKOSH — Richard Derber, 21, 916 Vine Ave., Oshkosh, was found guilty today of first-degree murder of his estranged wife and sentenced to life imprisonment at the state reformatory at Green Bay by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane.

Derber took the conviction and sentencing passively without uttering a word. He shook his head to indicate "no" when asked by Judge Cane if he had any objections to being sentenced to the reformatory and nodded for permission to be permitted to rule him. He "yes" when the judge indicated he would go to Green Bay.

After hearing the sentence Derber walked alone toward the courtroom door, reaching into his coat pocket for a cigarette.

Derber was charged with the fatal shooting of his wife, Judith, early in the morning of Aug. 31, 1959, when she stepped from a car driven by a woman friend. Derber had followed his 20-year-old estranged wife from a beer bar where they had a chance meeting several hours earlier.

12-Page Decision

In the 12-page decision, Judge Cane stated "It is obvious to the court that the defendant (Derber) was an overindulged, emotionally immature person. He reformatory and nodded for permission to be permitted to rule him. He knew what he was doing at the time of the shooting of his wife. The court finds, beyond reasonable doubt, that the defendant unlawfully and feloniously, with intent to kill, murdered his wife. He is therefore guilty of murder in the first degree," the judge concluded.

Judge Cane, in his decision, reviewed at length the various rules and court decisions used by courts throughout the country on the matter of a person's being responsible for his criminal acts, the matter of temporary insanity and whether there was a conscious intent to commit the act.

Intent to Kill

"After a careful consideration of the entire matter, the court finds beyond reasonable doubt that the presumption of intent has not been overcome by the defendant; that he not only had the capacity to form such intent but that he also did in fact have such intent when he fired the gun at his wife," Judge Cane declared.

Testimony in the trial held all day Tuesday and Wednesday morning before Judge Cane, who heard the case without a jury, concerned largely whether Derber knew what he was doing prior to the shooting. Judge Cane said he did not agree with the defense contention that Derber was highly intoxicated.

Testimony from other witnesses who saw him that evening, by the Rev. James Craanen of Neenah, to whom Derber surrendered himself minutes after the shooting, and Oshkosh police, who questioned him, did not indicate such a degree of intoxication, the judge decided.

Gun

As to whether Derber had gone home to get his gun, as he had told Father Craanen when surrendering himself, or to get a tranquilizer pill, as testified by defense witnesses during the trial, Judge Cane stated he thought the defendant went home for the weapon, "but also believes it to make little difference whether he got the gun on this trip home, or placed it in his car earlier in the day."

Derber had stated during the trial he placed the loaded gun in the car earlier in the day for the purpose of testing it, which he did not get around to doing.

Dr. John Petersik, Oshkosh psychiatrist, testifying for the defense, said Derber, in his opinion, could not be found insane under the test for criminal responsibility under the McNaughten rule. This rule has been followed by Wisconsin courts for the last 100 years, but it may be discarded in favor of the American Law Institute (ALI) moral penal code plan on reaching the goal," he explained.

The city council is providing $310,000, the Oshkosh Foundation $72,900 and anonymous donations total $300,000. These were pledged prior to the opening of bids Oct. 24. Bids opened then totaled $832,000 and another $130,000 in contributions has been pledged since then, Schneider said.

Tonight the board of education will act on the auditorium budget and submit it to the council for approval at its Wednesday meeting.

Snowy Streets Contribute to Three Crashes

MENASHA — Slippery streets were blamed for three weekend accidents in which five autos were damaged.

A car driven by Robert Hudson, 27, 524 First St., skidded into a light on the safety island at Main and Racine Streets at 6:45 p.m. Saturday. Hudson told police he was turning off Racine onto Main at the time of the mishap.

A parked car owned by Jerome Heiss, 45, 14 Tayco St., was damaged at 11:27 a.m. Sunday on Anna Street when it was struck by an auto operated by Miss Suzanne Holmes, 628 Warsaw St., Menasha.

Miss Holmes reported to police that she was headed north-east on Anna and couldn't avoid hitting the parked car because of icy conditions.

Autos operated by Gerald L. Suess, 21, 124 First St., and John Edward Hinkley, 22, 730 Milwaukee St., were damaged in a collision at 10:35 p.m. Saturday in front of 350 Chute St.

Suess told police he was backing up on Chute Street, in order to enter a driveway, when he struck the Hinkley car, which had stopped behind him. Hinkley said he stopped when he saw the Suess car backing up, but was unable to avoid a collision.

Oshkosh Drive $20,000 Short Of Its Goal

OSHKOSH — The Oshkosh board of education tonight will learn how close it is to reaching its goal of $832,000 to build a civic auditorium which will adjoin the new high school.

As of this morning, $20,000 more was needed to reach the goal, Wesley Schneider, school board chairman, reported.

Schneider said an all-out effort is being made to obtain this money and that there is no reason for the auditorium being lost for just a few thousand dollars. "We plan on reaching the goal," he explained.

The city council is providing $310,000, the Oshkosh Foundation $72,900 and anonymous donations total $300,000. These were pledged prior to the opening of bids Oct. 24. Bids opened then totaled $832,000 and another $130,000 in contributions has been pledged since then, Schneider said.

Dog's Owner Asks Jury Trial; Ales Sets Case Jan. 19

MENASHA — Accused of allowing his dog to run at large, Joseph Ernst, 76, 247 Third St., pleaded innocent through his attorney in Police Justice Arthur J. Ales' court.

Ales set trial for 10 a.m. Jan. 19. The defense attorney asked a jury trial.

Ernst was charged as a result of the accident Thursday after the car of Miss Sandra Bjorklund, 19, 804 Martin St., was struck by the dog.

Ernst's condition at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital today was satisfactory. He is being treated for a skull fracture and minor injuries.

Pleads Innocent

NEENAH — Charles H. Green, 32, 706 E. Parkway St., Oshkosh, pleaded innocent in police justice court today to a traffic light violation which police say occurred at 11:06 a.m. Friday at Commercial Street and Wisconsin Avenue.

Justice E. P. Arpin set the case for 10 a.m., Dec. 28.

Two Plows Collide With Automobiles

OSHKOSH — Two snowplow trucks, one owned by the city of Menasha and the other by Winnebago County, were involved in separate accidents with cars Sunday morning in the Twin City area.

A Menasha truck driven by John G. Ludwikowski, 45, of 624 Milwaukee St., Menasha, was involved in an accident with a car driven by J. Thomas Weber, 39, 2130 Palisades Drive, Appleton, at the Ninth Street - County Trunk P intersection at 8:29 a.m. Sunday.

Ludwikowski said he was going west on Ninth Street while plowing snow and, because of icy conditions, was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the Weber car. Weber said he tried to stop but skidded in front of the snowplow. The entire left side of the Weber car was damaged but neither he, his wife nor their three children were injured.

A Winnebago County snowplow, driven by Walter E. Luker, 47, was involved in an accident with a car operated by Mrs. Joan M. Arft, 45, of 1000 Bayview Road, Neenah, at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

The right front of the car was damaged when the truck backed into it.

Luker said he had turned into a driveway, was backing up and didn't see the car behind him.

David Ryan to Head Fund Drive

Learn to Live With Television — It Can be Servant or Master

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

There sits your television. Ready to be turned on at any time — all day — all night.

It can be our servant, or we can become its slaves. When it serves us, it serves us well, with an amazing variety of entertainment and information. When we allow it to become the master it can bring us harm without our realizing it.

In the morning, you must choose. A quiet breakfast, a warm family relationship, a good start for the day for everyone, especially the proper send-off to school for children. Or television, with a choice of good educational programs, good — or less-than-good — entertainment.

Build Responsiveness
In the afternoon, the children are home from school and mother is getting the evening meal. There are programs designed for little ones — cartoons, games and activities like "Simon Says" or "Guess What I Am" — good activities that build responsiveness.

But some children — especially older ones — need wholesome playtime with physical exercise and a chance to work off pent-up energy. Television may not be helping them.

In the evening, you still must choose. Television can be a source of entertainment, or it can rob the family of story-reading time, time for discussion of the day's problems, or homework time.

Homework and TV

Homework activity and television can't operate in the same room. Homework is a job — like all jobs, a thing to be done. It should take the whole mind. If a budding rose, television is operating, it demands first the ears, then the eyes. By then, the mind may as well go along, too. The attraction is so strong it may pull children from another part of the house where they are studying, just to see "what's on."

When television must share the home with people, there needs to be some family planning. It takes a lot of thought to "budget" television time so that each can view his favorite program. It also takes family teamwork — the best kind. Children, and adults too, must learn to respect the rights of others.

Most children aren't designed with built-in self-discipline. They have to learn it, which is a good reason for having parents. They'll like life insurance: The older you need support in developing what ever it takes to look after baths, chores, homework and the rest rather than to sit glued to the television.

What about the excitement of television? An exciting, slightly "scary" program might, in some ways, be good for a child sitting securely and comfortably on his father's lap. It would be less good for him if he were alone in a partially darkened room.

What about Westerns? Children aren't so wide-eyed and innocent that they don't know the "good guys" are going to win. Whose side are they on? The "good guys," of course. Nothing succeeds like success. They may even get real profit from the moral flavor of the show.

Suppose little Johnny views a whole series of such shows. There's a good chance that he isn't going to get enough rest, and he'll wake up in the morning, too tired to face the day. Poor work in the classroom and a tendency to emulate the "bad guy" on the playground may follow. Was it the Westerns? Probably the trouble is fatigue, not television. He needs more sleep and less television!

There is no general rule. The question must be: "What is happening to your child?" Is he learning to discipline himself and live with television or is he using it as an escape from his obligations? Is he learning from it as well as being entertained, or is he letting it rule him?

Watch for the signals of trouble. And remember, some firm, kindly, consistent discipline — from YOU — is needed for the child's mental health.

Xavier High to Have Christmas Program Friday

The Xavier High School Christmas assembly Friday will be a program from music to humor, to the reading of the Christmas Gospel.

The Xavier concert band and the boys' chorus will start the program with a medley of Christmas music, followed by a humorous contest called "Truth or Penalties." If the two class representatives fail to answer their question, the entire class will have to participate in a humorous penalty.

The program will take on a more serious vein with the reading of the Christmas Gospel by Michael Kaphingst. Background music for the reading will be provided by Ann Vanderloop, Mary Ann Stoebauer, Jack Barta, Carla Barta and Marge Hegner.

The program will end with community singing to Patrick O'Connell's piano accompaniment. The Christmas assembly committee included representatives of each home room, with Marge Hegner as chairman. Sister Rose Catherine and Brother Francis are faculty moderators of the group.

XHS Students Prepare Toys, Food for Needy

Xavier High School students have been carrying out Christmas toy and food collections for needy families in the Appleton area.

The 26 members of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade have been refurbishing a large collection of toys, mainly stuffed animals. Officers in charge of the project are Jenny McClone, Pat Farrell, Barbara De Young and Donna Desten. Sister Marie is faculty adviser.

In the boys' department the Key Club and the student council are jointly promoting a food basket project. The groups hope to fill 100 food baskets for distribution to needy families. Brother Francis is faculty adviser.

The toys and the food baskets will be given to the Appleton Apostolate for distribution.

Test of Popularity

Interesting Tidbits In Columnist's Mail

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One test of your popularity is the number of Christmas cards you get. If you're average, you should receive at least 16 of the 3 billion seasonal cards mailed this month.

Incidentally, the first U.S. commercial Christmas card was created by Louis Prang, a Boston lithographer, in 1875. It depicted a budding rose.

Marital statistics: About 200,000 teen-age girls marry each year, but only about 30,000 teen-age boys.

One price of prosperity: Americans spent $146 million for headache-type pain relievers in 1955.

In 1960 they spent $240 million. Royal vanity: Elizabeth, empress of Russia, was so fond of the color pink she made it a crime for any other woman in her empire to wear it.

Infant Death Rate

We are justly proud of our medical progress, but nine nations still have lower infant death rates than the United States. They are Sweden, Holland, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, Britain, Denmark, New Zealand and Finland.

Our quotable notables: "Fun is with your correct weight. The older you get, the more it costs."—Kin Hubbard.

The Doral Country Club in Miami plans to introduce something new in American golfing next month—girl caddies. In France and Japan women caddies monopolize the field.

History lesson: Horse racing long has been known as "the sport of kings." The first monarch to establish his own stable was Henry VIII of England, also famous for his love of palace fillies.

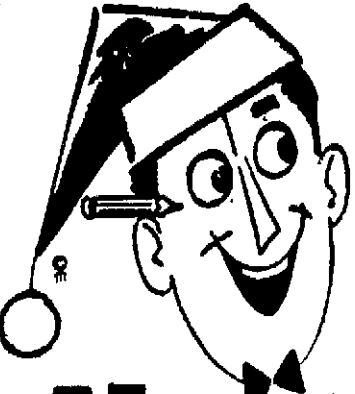

Nature notes: The venom of a black widow spider is 15 times as potent as that of a rattlesnake. That old myth about eagles carrying off human toddlers just isn't true. Adult eagles weigh about 12 pounds and can lift only about 7 pounds.

Week's Wisecrack

Wisecrack of the week: Actor Oscar Homolka tells of the rich African chief who bought himself a two-tone vehicle—a zebra.

Fear of automation isn't new. In 1851 when Barthelmeay Thimmonier, a manufacturer of French military uniforms, tried to introduce the first sewing machines into his Paris factory, 300 tailors rioted and burned his plant.

You just can't escape those commercials! A new talking scale now delivers a sales pitch along with some water by literally boiling rocks and condensing the resultant moisture vapors.

No Conflict of Interest Seen In Appointment

But Sen. Lorge to Fight Finance Officer's Bank Job

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Gov. Nelson said today he is satisfied that his appointment of a finance company president to the State Banking Board of Review does not involve a conflict of interest problem. The governor commented at his news conference on a charge raised by Sen. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek, a Republican who has started a campaign against state senate confirmation of Farnis Conway, president of the Thorp Finance Co., for a seat on the state board that supervises the work of the State Department of Banking. Lorge and Conway will face each other later today at a hearing before the State Senate Committee on Banking.

No Impropriety

The governor told reporters that he had checked thoroughly about the possible incompatibility of Conway's private business with the state job and had been assured by the attorney general's office and the banking department that it would not involve any impropriety.

He said that bankers have sat on the board for many years and that under the terms of the law there is no way to avoid a theoretical conflict of interest for the review board members.

He said banker members have withdrawn in cases that might involve their own affairs and that he expects that Conway will do so also. He called the financier an able man who had also held state office by the appointment of Republican governors.

'Political Payoff'

Conway is a Democrat and has long been a financial contributor to Democratic party causes, which led Lorge in a Senate speech to call his appointment a "political payoff."

Nelson today issued another appeal for state Senate approval of his compromise tax revision bill that won endorsement in the Assembly last week.

"We are now nearer to accomplishing comprehensive tax revision than we have ever been before. The decision now rests with the Senate," he said, adding that he hopes the legislature can take final action this week and conclude the long 1961 session.

He warned that if there are any further amendments to the bill in the Senate the result would be to lose its bipartisan support in the Assembly.

"The cause of tax revision would be lost," he said.

Post Office Hits Peak Load

tion of Appleton residents with the post office's "mail early campaign. Locally, outgoing mail is about three per cent ahead of last year, he said, but incoming mail is down about 3.4 per cent.

He estimated the Appleton increase in volume would equal or go above the national increases. Figures show nationally, the volume is up 2.8 per cent over 1960. Since Dec. 3, the first Sunday in December which normally starts the Christmas rush period for the post office, the Appleton Post Office has handled 1,285,000 pieces of outgoing mail and received 1,180,000 pieces of incoming mail.

The biggest day so far this season was Thursday, when 200,000 pieces were mailed from Appleton. The biggest day for incoming mail was Friday, when 168,000 pieces flowed into the Appleton office.

Parcel post is at least 20 per cent below last year. Summich said, and will stay down. The reason, he said, is that large national mail order houses have opened local outlets. One year ago one mail order company accounted for 50 per cent of incoming parcel post, he said.

The Appleton Post Office has received 32,000 parcels since Dec. 3. Outgoing parcels are even with last year.

Collapses, Dies

Julius Cornelius, 61, route 2, Herrbold, collapsed and died at his home at 8:50 p.m. Saturday. The coroner's office is investigating. It is believed death was due to natural causes.

Santa Claus Paid an early visit to members of Appleton's Company C, 291st Engineer Battalion, Sunday. Members of the unit presented First Sergeant Vernon Selig, Appleton, with a foot-long whistle on an inch-thick, three-foot long steel chain. Santa, Gerald Schmalz, route 4, Appleton, uses a diaper pin to help Selig pin on the whistle.

Helmeted Santa Pays Visit to Reservists

Santa arrived for Appleton reservists Sunday. He wore his traditional red suit but had an addition—a helmet and a bag full of mischief.

A Christmas tree, upside down and made of pine boughs stuck into a one-inch by six-inch-wide board, was placed in the middle of the Ballard Road Armory drill hall floor.

Members of Company C, 291st Engineer Battalion, gathered around as Santa and his helpers handed out gifts.

For the company commander, Capt. Clifford P. Fischer, Oshkosh, there was a large replica of an excellent training report (hard to come by in the army).

'Keep Talking'

A talkative regular army advisor sergeant received two tickets to "Keep Talking." A motor pool advisor, who has trouble replacing windshield wiper blades, received an instruction book—"Replacing Windshield Wipers in 10 Easy Lessons."

There was a more or less "appropriate" gift for the unit's army advisor—the man who makes reports and harrasses officers and men—Capt. C. T. Mackey, Neenah. He was given a box of pipe tobacco with the instructions—"Caution, explosive! Black powder."

Unit first sergeants are a difficult lot as they go, soldiers say. Vernon Selig, C Company first sergeant, is no exception. His pet, the men feel, is his silver whistle which he uses to advantage—or to the drowsy soldier's disadvantage. He received a foot-long wood whistle on a three-foot, inch-thick steel chain. Santa Claus, Gerald Schmalz, route 4, Appleton, helped pin it to Selig's uniform with an oversized diaper pin.

Platoon Tactics

The unit, after the party held in 20 minutes between morning and afternoon formations, headed for a combat field problem in deep snow at Outagamie County Plamann Park.

Members of the unit, on advisory alert, have been attending two eight-hour drills on Sundays during each month. Most after-

Developer of Subdivision Attacked For Not Putting Open Space in Plan

A residential design for 194 acres of land on Appleton's extreme southeast side was criticized this morning because it includes no parks.

A member of the city's plan-commission said some of the recently annexed land between Newberry Street and the Fox River owned by Land Associates should be set aside as open space. An early recommendation by the regional planning commission would have made the entire piece of land a park, he pointed out.

Profit Questioned

"Are we interested in accepting a plat that will return the highest profit to the developers, or are we interested in accepting one that will return the most to the majority of the people?" he asked.

The land, annexed in June, made Appleton contiguous with Kimberly. Charles Zahn, of Kenneth Schellie and Associates, told the city body the regional planning commission originally recommended a park there because of the river frontage and to provide a "green wedge" between the to Seymour Polke Chief Bernard Plumb for three counts of theft. Ziesemer pleaded guilty to taking a total of $140 in thefts in Seymour. He was arraigned before Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller last week. The youth, brought back for sentencing to W. Pearl St., Seymour, today was day, agreed to make restitution placed on six months probation for the thefts.

Parks Possible

The commission member thought a park in the area might still be possible and should be considered before Land Associates' final plat was drawn up. He cited the value of the river frontage as park area.

Roy Schumacher, Cyril Griesbach and Leon Fischer, of Land Associates, felt the city should have expressed its desire for a park before the private organization bought the land, agreed to annexation and drew up a preliminary plat.

"We missed the boat when the preliminary plat was brought it," retorted the commission member. "But we should do something about that now."

The commission will consider the matter again at its Jan. 15 meeting.

Land Associates also wants to eliminate a small part of the land included on the preliminary plat from the final plat. That matter will also be taken up Jan. 15.

Eagles Nudge Lions in Last 25 Seconds

Walston's Kick Wins Game, Makes Him All-Time Point Ace

DETROIT (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles, battling for a last chance to keep alive in a bid to retain their world championship, beat down the Detroit Lions 27-24 Sunday on Bobby Walston's 10-yard field goal with 25 seconds remaining.

The Eagles scored 10 points in the final four minutes to come from behind for the victory.

Although they won the game, the Eagles lost out in their bid to retain the Eastern Division championship in the National Football League when the New York Giants tied the Cleveland Browns 7-7 and clinched the divisional title.

Walston booted two field goals and added three extra points for nine points and became the National Football League's all-time high scorer with an 11-year total of 833 points.

Sonny Jurgensen pitched three touchdown passes and completed his season with a total of 32.

His last scoring pass with a 16-yarder off a fake field goal to Dick Lucas for a touchdown that tied the score 24-24 with 3:47 to play.

The Lions had the ball for just two plays before Don Burroughs intercepted a Jim Ninowski pass at the Eagle 17.

With Jurgensen passing 26 yards to Tim Brown, 25 to Pete Retzlaff and 29 to Tommy McDonald, the Eagles worked into position for Walston's winning field goal.

The Lions trailed three times before forging into a 24-17 lead with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter as a crowd of 44,231 cheered.

Ninowski's passes set up both scores.

He scored one touchdown himself on a 14-yard run and an interference penalty in the end zone set up Detroit's go-ahead tally.

Irv Cross was detected holding Gail Cogdill and the infraction advanced the ball 36 yards to the 1. Nick Pietrosante dived over for the touchdown.

But the Eagles drove back 70 yards in 11 plays to tie the score on the fake field goal.

The Eagles led 10-3 at halftime before the Lions tied it on the second play of the second half on Ninowski's 84-yard pass to Cogdill.

Jurgensen's other touchdown passes were a 1-yarder to McDonald and an 11-yarder to Retzlaff.

Walston went from third to first on the NFL's all-time scoring list with his nine points. He bypassed Cleveland's Lou Groza, who booted only an extra point to run his 11-season total to 827 points. Last week Groza passed Don Hutson, the long-time leader who scored 825 points with the Green Bay Packers from 1935 to 1945.

Lourdes Edges Springers in Final 5 Seconds

Jungwirth's Two Free Throws Cap 51-50 Triumph

FOND DU LAC — Two free throws by Reggie Jungwirth in the final five seconds of play gave Oshkosh Lourdes a 51-50 victory over St. Mary Springs here Sunday afternoon.

Jungwirth capped a come-from-behind effort by the Lourdes cagers. Springers jumped to a 20-9 lead in the first quarter and led until the closing moments of the third period.

Kevin MacDonald's short jump shot put Lourdes ahead, 41-40, and the lead changed hands six times in the final stanza.

The Springers appeared to have the game on "ice" with only 40 seconds to play and a 50-47 lead. Jungwirth, who had 27 points in the game, fired home a long shot with :32 remaining and then canned the winning charity tosses.

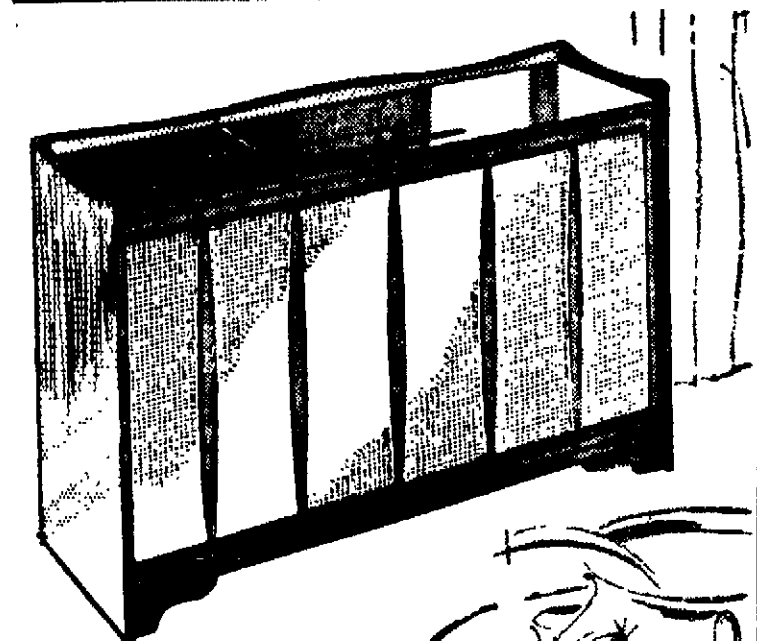

Oshkosh shot at a 33 per cent clip while Springers hit on 15 of 31 floor attempts in the first half but faded to only five of 20 in the last two quarters. Lourdes used a press throughout the game.

hit on a short shot and then on a zipping fast break to give the Hawks their biggest lead of the game, 45-33.

Eckholm Tallies

Tom Johnson, who connected on five of 11 shots in the game, threw in a long one, and Eckholm tallied from underneath to cut the margin back to 8 points.

This sent Xavier into a stall. The Hawks tossed the ball around for over two minutes with only a Gene Patzner foul marring the stall game after it was one minute old. Tom Flanagan missed the attempt, but the Hawks got possession and stalled for another minute before St. Mary's Konkol was called for his third foul of the night.

Whitlinger dropped in a pair from the line to cushion Xavier's lead to 47-37, but Martin and Johnson made it 47-41 with 3:11 remaining to play.

Wiesner's free throw made it 48-41, but the Hawks lost "Rocky" Bleier and Whitlinger on fouls in the space of 15 seconds. In that time, Eckholm made a free throw and Starr connected from the floor to narrow the Hawk margin to 48-44.

Stall Continues

The stall continued and with time running out the Zephyrs had to be more aggressive. Zanig was fouled and made the first two. Wiesner was the next to go to the foul line and after adding his pair, Xavier had a 52-44 lead with 1:44 remaining in the game.

Starr added a 2-pointer for St. Mary, but Flanagan hit two free throws for Xavier. Johnson fired in another long one for the Zephyrs, but Zanig threw in a free throw and a basket for the Hawks before Johnson banged home a jump shot to end the scoring.

Xavier hit on 18 of 51 shots while St. Mary connected on 21 of 71. The Hawks had the big advantage on the lines with 21 of 32 to the Zephyrs' 8 of 14.

Houston's Oilers have won nine in a row and are champions of the American Football League's eastern division.

Sunday's results indicated that they could pretty well count on making it 10 in a row before winding up the 1961 season.

San Diego's Chargers don't look like they will offer much resistance when the clubs clash at San Diego next Sunday for the league championship.

Houston ran over Oakland 47-16 in a record-making day and this was expected but when San Diego was beaten 41-0 by Boston it caused even the league officials to blanch.

San Diego sewed up the western division championship long ago but was beaten by Houston 33-13 two weeks ago. Since then the Chargers have looked about like Houston did before it took stock of itself, brought in a new coach and started off on its winning streak.

Never Complained

San Diego had some injuries but the Chargers never complained about them when they were roaring through 11 straight games—before meeting Houston. But definitely there's something wrong with the really fine team of a month ago.

Houston's George Blanda and Billy Cannon led the record-smashing parade Sunday. Blanda threw for four touchdowns, giving him 36 scoring passes for the season. That bettered the league record of 34 set last year by Frank Tripucka of Denver.

Cannon ran for 145 yards to not only capture the league rushing title with 948 yards but better the record of 875 yards set by Abner Haynes of Dallas last year.

The Boston-San Diego game also produced a record when Gino Cappelletti of Boston scored 17 points. He made his season total 147 points and that was 24 better than the 1960 record of Gene Mingo of Denver.

Dallas beat New York 35-24 in a 2-12 record and that was the other game on Sunday's closing schedule and there was a record in it, too. Dave Grayson of Dallas ran a pass interception back 99 yards for a touchdown, which was 19 yards farther than third and Buffalo fourth.

the record set by Dave Webster of Dallas last year.

Dallas was beating New York for the first time in league play but the game didn't turn out as anticipated. The Texans had made some grim remarks about what they planned to do to the rowdy Titans, who did some manhandling the last time the teams met, in New York.

But while some fists were thrown at intervals there never was anything resembling a fight. The Texans were too busy trying to protect a 28-0 lead run up before New York scarcely knew what had hit it to think about fisticuffs.

Dallas wound up in second place in the western division, six games behind San Diego. Oakland was anything but a slouch in the east-ern division, a game back of Houston, while New York was third and Buffalo fourth.

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" ment" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

New York Clinches Eastern Crown By Tying Browns

Summerall, Groza Both Miss on Fourth Period Field Goal Tries

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants clinched the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League Sunday by battling the underdog Cleveland Browns to a 7-7 tie. Despite Philadelphia's victory at Detroit, the Giants qualified for the Dec. 31 league championship game with the Green Bay Packers.

The only way the Giants could have missed the Eastern Conference crown was a defeat by Cleveland and a victory for Philadelphia. The tie left their final record 10-3-1 as compared to the Eagles 10-4.

The Giants, and the 61,084 Yankee Stadium spectators, knew that the Eagles already had won their game while they fought through the final period with the Browns.

In the last quarter, Pat Summerall missed a 14-yard field goal try for the Giants and Lou Groza was short with a 48-yard try for the Browns.

Ray Renfro dropped a Milt Plum pass on the Giant 8 in the final minutes just before Groza's field goal attempt.

Pass to Wells
Y.A. Tittle's 7-yard pass to Joel Wells gave the Giants their only touchdown at 13:45 of the first period and Summerall added his 129th consecutive extra point try.

The Browns tied the score in the third period on a 38-yard pass from Plum to Leon Clarke for the title tussle — Taylor who and Groza's placement, which boosted his lifetime total to 827 points.

The chilled crowd enthusiastically attacked the goal posts and toppled them onto the snow-fringed field after the final gun gave the Giants their 12th conference crown and their fourth in the last six years.

It was a triumph for Allie Sherman, the Giants' rookie coach who got the job last year as second choice to Vince Lombardi, when Green Bay refused to release Lombardi from his contract.

With the score tied at 7-7, the Browns moved into Giant territory in the final period. With Brown smashing through the line four straight times, Cleveland moved to the Giant 41. Then came Plum's pass that Renfro dropped on the 8 after he had beaten the Giant defenders.

Pitts' TD Run Breaks 17-17 Tie

BY ART DALEY

Post-Crescent News Service
LOS ANGELES — The Packers are the winningest team in the National Football League.

The Packers beat the Rams, 24-17, in the Coliseum Sunday afternoon for their 11th victory against only three defeats for the best percentage (.75) in the world's toughest football league.

The Eastern Division champion Giants, by tying the Browns, counted 10 victories for a final 7-6-1.

And its only fitting and proper that the two best clubs should battle it out for the world title, which is what the Giants and Packers will do in Green Bay Dec. 31.

The Packers roared from behind in the last two minutes to thrill a crowd of 49,169.

Shadow of Selves

The men of Vince Lombardi, who now have lost only 12 league games in his three seasons at the helm, were just a shadow of their former selves as this season ended. Only six members of the offensive team that opened the campaign against the Lions back on Sept. 17 figured in that winning TD—Bart Starr, Boyd Dowler, Bob Skornoski, Jim Ringo, Forrest Gregg and Fred Thurston.

Rookie Elijah Pitts, the fourth back at the start of the year, scored the winning touchdown on a dazzling 17-yard run around left end and an "old man" in the game, Ben Agajanian, kicked the extra point.

And the Packers' two other touchdowns were scored by a sophomore back who subbed for both Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung. That would be Tom Moore, the sweet sophomore who galloped two yards for the first TD that gave Green Bay a 7-0 lead and caught an eight-yard Bart Starr pass for the second TD to give the Packers a 14-3 edge at the half.

The Bays suffered three injuries but all are expected to be ready for the title tussle — Taylor who and Groza's placement, which boosted his lifetime total to 827 points.

Lueck and Wiesner, who were the Xavier point leaders with 14 and 13, respectively, were the big guns of the stanza. Lueck put in two goals while Wiesner added a fielder and two free throws. Halfback Lew Carpenter, of the Green Bay Packers, can't quite get his hands on this long first period pass from quarterback Bart Starr in the game against the Los Angeles Rams Sunday. Al Hall of the Rams goes all out to break up the pass attempt which came from Starr on the midfield stripe. The Packers won, 24-17.

'Football Is Endurance Test'

Lombardi Praises Carpenter, Says Bays Were Running Out of Players

Post-Crescent News Service

LOS ANGELES — Vince Lombardi and Bob Waterfield both came out of Sunday's thriller with a headache.

Packer Lombardi could smile through the head pain brought about by pressure of 19 straight games since last August—but Ram Waterfield was throbbing under the misery of another close setback.

The victory was another tribute to the Bays' winning under most trying circumstances. Lombardi told of those circumstances for an audience of LA writers in answer to various questions:

"We finished up with only two running backs (Moore and Pitts) and there were only two ends. "One time during the season we had only nine offensive players, couldn't even practice.

Endurance Test
"Carpenter played a great game, filling in for McGee. "This football is getting to be an endurance test. We're just running out of players.

"We went for the punt down there at the end rather than take a chance on having a field goal blocked.

"No, I would rather not evaluate the Rams. I've got enough problems of my own.

"It's hard to keep a team up after you have clinched the title, as we did two weeks ago. I liked the way they came back today after being behind."

Waterfield spoke in hushed tones and pointed to Willie Wood's interception as the "thing that hurt us."

The Rams' rookie coach, a quarterback star off the Rams in his playing day, had high praise for Bart Starr. "He really takes charge. He hurt us."

Waterfield said he'd be pulling for the Packers to beat the Giants.

Carpenter was aching from head to foot. "All I can say is that sitting on the bench all the time and then going out and play-

Hornung Wins Scoring Title

Brown Gains 101 Yards to Top Taylor in Rushing

Pvt. Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers and fullback Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns repeated as scoring and rushing champions of the National Football League, which ended its regular season Sunday.

Hornung, although he never left Fort Riley, Kan., the couldn't get a weekend pass for Sunday's game with Los Angeles won the scoring championship for the third straight year. The former Notre Dame ace finished the 14-game season with 146 points. Last year, Hornung set an NFL record of 176 points in 13 games. This year, he played only in 12 of the games.

Brown was the league's rushing champion for the fifth straight year. With 101 yards gained against New York, the Cleveland star finished with 1,407 yards and a 100-yard edge over runner-up Jim Taylor of Green Bay.

BY JIM HARP

LITTLE CHUTE — St. John High School ran into its coldest shooting game of the season and dropped a 54-40 Fox Valley Catholic Conference basketball decision to Central Catholic of Marinette Sunday afternoon.

The Chuters fell behind in the opening period and never caught up as they dropped their second league tilt in as many days. St. John now has a 2-2 record in the conference while the Cavaliers boast a 3-1 slate.

St. John's lone lead in the game was at 2-0 when Rog Gloudemans dropped in his first shot. Central quickly moved to a 8-2 advantage before the Chuters managed their next point, a free throw by Gloudemans.

Before the first period was over the Cavaliers sported a 16-8 lead as Dick Nordost sparked the attack with four baskets.

Scoring Honors
Nordost took scoring honors for the game with 23 points on nine field goals and five of seven free throws. Gloudemans was the top scorer for the Chuters with 13.

The 40 points was the lowest passes for 640 yards the past number the Dutchmen have recorded in seven games this season.

Wade Sparks Bears to 52-35 Victory Over Minnesota in Finale

Bonspiel Title Won by Kleist

LaCrosse Rink Edges Oshkosh's Jenkins, 8-7

LaCrosse's Terry Kleist rink edged Dave Jenkins of Oshkosh, 8-7, to win the fifth annual Lawrence College invitational bonspiel Sunday.

Two members of the LaCrosse team, Joe Verrier and Jim Ragus, are from Appleton. The other member of the squad, in addition to Kleist, is Mike Johnston.

The Lawrence unit, skipped by Bob Landis, captured the second event title with a 7-6 victory over Stevens Point, skipped by Paul Schultz. Other members of the Lawrence squad are Steve Hansen, Eric Schulenburg and Jeff Cook.

Oshkosh State squad members, in addition to skip Jenkins, are Robert Yaula, Steve Luek, and Robert Seidner.

Other members of the Stevens Point team were John Hartman, David Bennett and Gene Spear. St. Thomas won the third event title, 9-6, over the University of Wisconsin. John Whitney was the St. Thomas skip with Terry Clausen, Les Lindholm, and Joe La-dowski the other members of the team.

Lew caught two passes for 13 yards and ran once, on the end ground, for five yards. Besides that he delivered some good blocks.

The Packers were all smiling, but John Symank and Jim Taylor hurt when they managed even the slightest grin. Symank said "somebody got me good," and Taylor confessed he wasn't quite sure how many times he'd been battered around. Symank was injured in the upper chest.

"They'll all be ready for the championship game," Dr. George McGuire promised.

Ben Agajanian was pinching himself Sunday night. Said he: "Imagine playing a championship game for one league (Los Angeles vs. Houston last season) one year and then another title game the next fall in another league."

Boyd Dowler who missed knocking Dick Bass out of bounds on his 90-yard punt return figures "I just got fooled. I thought I could estimate when to hit him from the side, but he just went past me instead. It was a great piece of running and faking."

Wade, sidelined with a groin injury, was sent into the game after the Vikings had struck for an early 14-0 lead as a crowd of 34,539 jeered starting quarterback Ed Brown's every move.

Two plays after stepping in, Wade fired a 62-yard touchdown pass to Angelo Coia and then proceeded to hurl touchdown passes to rookie Mike Ditka and another to Coia.

Minnesota, led by rookie quarterback Fran Tarkenton's four touchdown passes scooted to a quick 14-0 lead before the first quarter was half over.

80-Yard Return

Veteran Hugh McElhenny started the fireworks with an 89-yard punt return for a touchdown and three minutes later Jerry Reichow grabbed the first of his three touchdowns passes.

The Bears tied it on an 8-yard touchdown jaunt by Willie Galtmore and took the lead when Wade hit Ditka with a 2-yard scoring pass.

But Minnesota stormed back with Mel Triplett ripping off large gains and tied it at 21-21 on an 11-yard Tarkenton to Reichow pass shortly before the half.

The Bears packed in 24 points in the third quarter but never put the game out of reach until Galtmore rambled 60 yards for a touchdown giving the Bears their most productive day since 1956 when they defeated Baltimore 58-27.

Short of Record

The two team scoring total fell short of the league record of 98 when the Chicago Cardinals defeated the New York Giants 63-35 in 1948.

Wade enjoyed one of the finest days of his professional career. He completed 23 of 34 passes for 355 yards. Young Tarkenton, harassed by Chicago's hard charging line, completed 12 of 22 for 161 yards.

The triumph helped the Bears avenge an opening 37-13 loss at Minnesota and gave the Bears an 8-6 finish, good for a third place tie with Baltimore in the Western Division. Minnesota, the NFL's rookie team ended with a 3-11 record.

Maybe it's about time to take the words of Punch Imlach, the general manager and coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs, seriously.

Imlach, all along, has insisted that his Leafs will win the regular season National Hockey League championship and end the four-year domination of the Montreal Canadiens.

Toronto came close last season and wound up just two points behind the league-leading Canadiens. The Leafs went into the 1961-62 campaign with virtually the same team that finished second last year and without a single rookie on the club.

With veteran goalie Johnny Bower, the Vezina Trophy winner last season, back in the nets after an ankle injury had sidelined him, the Leafs swept a pair of games over the weekend. Toronto turned back the Bruins 4-1 in Boston Sunday night after defeating the New York Rangers 4-2 at home the night before.

In other games Sunday night, the red-hot Detroit Red Wings downed Montreal 3-1 and the Chicago Black Hawks whipped the Rangers by the same score.

The Leafs, in extending Boston's winless streak to eight games, moved to within one point of first place Montreal, which has played one more game than Toronto.

third quarter. Gloudemans hit a short shot to make it 29-20 and Nordost hit a free throw for Central. Gib Hietpas dropped a side shot, added a free throw and Gloudemans dropped a charity toss to make the score 30-24.

Trade Baskets

Paul Drees and Gloudemans traded baskets to make it 32-26 but Tom Van Dyck and Drees hit for two-pointers before the quarter ended to push the Central lead to 36-26.

Three straight free throws at the start of the final quarter brought the Chuteers to 36-29 but the Cavaliers went on a rampage and boosted the lead to 43-29 and the outcome was never in doubt.

Marinette had a 19-14 lead in the field goal department and a 16 to 12 edge in free throws. Both for finally had to leave there was just two running backs left, Pitts and Moore. The injury to Masters left the offense line without a replacement and Symank's hurt brought forth the grand old gent, Em Tunnell. Hornung couldn't make it from Fort Riley.

The Packers displayed their tough fiber when the Rams went ahead 17-14 on a tremendous 90-yard return by Dick Bass in the first seconds of the last period. That was a real shock and might have ruined the Packers.

Wood Intercepts

But the Bays took the ensuing kickoff back for a game-tying 28-yard field goal by Agajanian. The Rams threatened to regain the lead but Willie Wood ended that by intercepting a Zeke Bratkowski pass.

Starr, with "strangers" Pitts, Moore and Lew Carpenter playing key roles, then marched the Packers 66 yards in seven plays against a desperate Ram defense for the winning touchdown.

Here's how the Packers scored their final TD of the regulation season:

Taylor, slowed down considerably, gained nothing on a pitchout around left end. Dowler, lining up on the left side instead of his usual right, took Starr's pass for 14 yards to the Packer 48. Carpenter gained five yards on a reverse and Moore gained six yards in two trips for the first down on the Ram 41.

Dowler, again on the left, took Starr's pass down the middle and then cut sharply to the right while evading tackles for a 24-yard gain to the 17. Pitts then veered out side left tackle and then turned on the speed to score standing up.

That was it — the Packer defense did the rest, halting the Rams twice in the final 2:33. The unit, anchored by the line, took the ball away on downs on the Ram 26 with two minutes left, thanks to a key tackle by Bill Forester on Bass on a fourth and one situation.

The Packer defense never permitted a serious Ram drive all afternoon. LA got reasonable close three times. Once Danny Villanueva kicked a 17-yard field goal and the other two times Forester and Wood intercepted passes.

Reception Title

Bass scored both Ram TDs. Besides the 19-yard return, he counted on a 55-yard left run to make it 14-10 near the end of the third period. Bass finished with 95 yards in nine runs. The only other Ram star was Red Phillips who caught 13 passes to beat out Raymond Berry of the Colts for the reception title.

The Packers received a big lift on the opening kickoff when Herb Adderley returned Villanueva's boot 61 yards to the Ram 35. The Packers scored in six plays and it looked easy.

Starr uncorked a screen throw to Taylor on the first play and Jim crashed 14 yards. Two runs gained nothing but Starr then threw to Ron Kramer for 18 yards to the 3. Taylor got it to the two teams missed eight charity attempts.

Xavier Snaps Zephyrs' JV Win Streak

The Xavier High School junior varsity basketball team ended Menasha St. Mary's 2-season JV win streak at 21 straight games here Sunday night. The Junior Hawks won, 44-32, to extend their own victory streak to seven.

Saturday night, Xavier had beaten St. John, 50-28, as Bob DeBruin led the way with 18 points.

The Junior Zephyrs lost the opening game last season then proceeded to win 16 games. They had won five straight this season. Xavier took the lead early Sunday.

downs and 284 yards, including 161 on Starr's 16 completions in 27 attempts. Dowler finished with five catches for 69 yards in an amazing performance considering he'd been at Fort Lewis all week. Seven Packers took part in the receiving.

The Packer defense slammed a Ram passers Bratkowski and Frank Ryan back 52 yards attempting to pass while Starr was jumped just once, resulting in a fumble that set up Villanueva's FG.

Starr went right to the air. He hit Taylor for three, Gary Knafele for 12 and Pitts for 6 before Taylor ran 10 on a draw to the Ram 35. Dowler then made a fine catch of a low pass for 14 yards to the 21 before the attack stalled. This brought in old Ben and he split the uprights from 28 yards for a tie.

The Rams piled up three quick first downs and it looked serious as Symank was hit but they got no farther than the Packer 34. On third and 10 Wood stole Bratkowski's pass aimed at Dale on the 13 and returned 21 yards.

The Packers went on from there to win their 16th game of the season that started back in early August.

Alert Defensive Play Leads Cards To 20-0 Victory Over Pittsburgh

BY JIM VALKENBURG

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis stopped at the Cards' 17 with yards down the sidelines to the Cardinals, getting some outstand-many in the crowd of 16,298 Steelers' two yard line. Etcheverry defensive play, shut out Pitts-burgh 20-0 Sunday, grabbed fourth place in the National Football League's Eastern Division and spoiled Bobby Layne's bid to quarter. Etcheverry set up the first Card TD in the first quarter when he ers in a 63-yard drive which faded to pass, then dashed 44 yards down the sidelines to the Cardinals, getting some outstand-many in the crowd of 16,298 Steelers' two yard line. Etcheverry's 2-yard pass to end Sonny Ran-die got the touchdown. The alert Cardinal defensive unit broke open a tight 7-0 battle late in the third quarter. There was a mixup in the Pittsburgh backfield and the Steeler backs stood flat-footed while the Cards poured in. John Henry Johnson fumbled, and Joe Robb picked up the ball and lateraled to Billy Stacy, who dashed 25 yards for the touch-down. Gerry Perry's conversion at-tempt was blocked.

first down, a 64-yard punt by Don Chandler shoved the Browns deep into their own territory on the 7. The Giants' defense smothered Bobby Mitchell and Plum and forced a punt. Charlie Conerly just held the ball on the last play of the game.

Chandler's punting was superb all day. In fact, his superiority over Sam Baker in the first half told the story of the Giants' 7-0 lead.

In the first period Alex Web-ster of the Giants fumbled on the Browns' one. A few minute later Tittle's failure to hit his re-ceiver and a 15-yard holding penalty cost New York another shot at the goal, forcing a punt. The Giants moved 36 yards in five plays for their only score at 13:45 of the first period. Webster ran twice and caught a 16-yard pass and Tittle hit Del Shofner for a 9-yard gainer. The series of plays, ending in Tittle's pass to Wells, followed a 25-yard punt by Baker.

Summerall also missed a field goal try in the second period when Bobby Franklin blocked his attempt from the 31. Groza also missed one from the 18 in the third period, before the Browns struck for their lone score on Brown's running and Plum's pass to Clarke.

Refuse to Go

Twice the Browns had 4th and 1 situations on their own 24 and 29 but refused to go for it. Some of the Cleveland players waved their arms in disgust when the punt was ordered.

Jimmy Brown had a tremen-dous day with 101 yards on 24 carries, his best against the Gi-ants in many a moon. Webster led the Giants gainers with 21 carries for 91 yards and Wells made 52 on 16 attempts.

Tittle played all the first half and a portion of the final period completing 10 of 19 for 116 yards. Charlie Conerly, who saved the day last week in Philadelphia, completed 4 of 9 for 46 yards in the third and fourth. Shofner caught six passes for 92 yards to lead all the receivers.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three I's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Waring to Appear on Christmas Eve Show

Pennsylvanians to Return on Special TV Program After Many Years Absence

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, the musical aggregation of singers and musicians which has delighted audiences since the early years of television, will be back on TV after an absence of several years for a special Christmas Eve broadcast.

That is a pleasant prospect for Waring fans, but it is also highly ironic.

"Why haven't we been seen on TV recently?" Waring said. "I suppose I could give you some are played by Andrea Margolis and Lurry Adare.

9-9:30 (Channel 2) — Hennessey has a mild episode to close its sort of a bland answer, but the truth is that we were dropped—rejected. Everybody told us we were finished.

Invented Spectaculars
"It's been hard to understand. We really were the ones who invented the spectaculars on TV—we did GE spectaculars for years, every Sunday night. All—or practically all—the people who worked for us have been snapped up for television. But they didn't want us, and they said we were through."

The irony, of course, is that with the phenomenal success of "Sing Along with Mitch," on NBC, television is going into another of its cyclic phases. All of a sudden Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians are the subject of new interest.

If Waring's hour show on NBC Dec. 24 comes off with style, it may mean the beginning of a whole new TV career. But Waring, a veteran of 45 years in show business, is not likely to forget his recent experiences with people in the medium.

No Real Showmen
"It's not only that there aren't many real showmen in television—and there aren't," continued the music master. "There's something completely off balance about the whole thing. Quite frankly, I don't know whether there's enough money in television to support our kind of organization—the economics are unbalanced."

Waring said that his budget for the forthcoming show is far above anything he had in the old days, but that it still isn't big enough to cover adequate rehearsals.

"You just can't afford perfection and I don't see how we can get it."

The show will consist of memorable old songs and, although Waring won't urge it, you can sing along if you've gotten the habit.

Hawaiian escapade There's some fun in the relationship between Jackie Cooper and Abby Dalton; she dawdles and he worries when it's time to catch their plane. When the flight is delayed, they go for a walk and see two Navy aviation men testing an airplane ejection seat. She dares him to try it, so, of course, he tries it.

9-10 (Channel 11) — Ben Casey turns from medicine to mystery, tonight and he plays detective. His patient is a young man, shot several times in a holdup attempt. Casey begins to suspect that the arresting officer (Telly Savalas) may be a sadistic, trigger-happy killer. And he investigates this hunch with all the ardor of a private eye, ear, nose and throat man. It's a fair story.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Thriller has a goodie, especially if you know your Greek mythology. We meet Jo Van Fleet as "The Remarkable Mrs. Hawk," who has a way with pigs. John Carradine, an intellectual hobo, has an idea that Mrs. Hawk's hogsmanship is slightly sinister. And he's very right.

French Movie Director Roger Vadim and his fiancée, actress Catherine Desneuve, 18, arrive in New York, where Vadim's controversial film, "Les Liaisons Dangereuses," is scheduled to open this week. Vadim is the former husband of actresses Brigitte Bardot and Annette Stroyberg. Miss Stroyberg, his second wife, appears in the new movie.

2,612 Performances Last Curtain Rings Down for Popular 'Threepenny Opera'

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP)—"The Threepenny Opera" is over. The all-time Broadway long-run king is "Life With Father," which closed after 3,215 performances. An overflow audience packed the 199-seat Theater de Lys in Greenwich Village for a quietly sentimental farewell.

Producers Carmen Capalbo and Stanley Chase—who almost didn't get permission to do the show eight years ago—stood at the back of the house. Capalbo had directed 706 players in the 22 roles since the premiere on Sept. 20, 1955.

Judge Fines Pair Involved In Argument
An Appleton man and a Neenah woman were fined Friday by Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller as the result of their noisy fight in a parked car.

Mrs. Delores Miller, 34, 128 E. North Water St., Neenah, was fined $15 and Lawrence Jost, 44, route 2, Appleton, was fined $25.

Judge Keller told Mrs. Miller, who is receiving public assistance and has six children, "this is a case where you people need to be less noisy."

He asked her what would happen to the children if she were jailed, and if she thought her fine should come from money she needs for the family and gets from the public.

Jost said he would pay both fines. The pair was arrested Dec. 9 in the 300 block of W. South Alley.

'Big Boys' Favor Old Favorite Stocks

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In 1961, when most Wall Street headlines have been about new glamor stocks with "atomic" or "nuclear" or "astro" or "dy-namics" in their names, what stocks have the giant institutional investors been buying and holding?

Porter

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, General Motors, General Electric, American Telephone, DuPont — names familiar in households the world over. In order of popularity, these are the top five among the 50 favorite stocks owned by over 1,600 of the nation's institutional investors.

Disclosures of what stocks the biggest of the "big boys" favor always are fascinating, and with reason. These institutions have billions to invest, now account for more than one-quarter of daily trading on the New York Stock Exchange alone, own more than one-third of all common stocks outstanding. Institutional investment portfolios are managed by professionals who have at their disposal huge research staffs devoted to analyzing every detail of a corporation's past, present, probable future. Presumably, these are real pros in investing — informed, shrewd, calculating.

Why Attractive?

But what's particularly fascinating about this favorite 50, published today in "The Exchange," official publication of the New York Stock Exchange, is that the magazine's editors ask a question surely on your mind: What makes the 50 so attractive to pension funds, mutual funds, insurance companies, etc? Here are a few of the answers.

1. As a group, sales or revenues of the top 50 corporations rose 94 per cent from 1950 through 1960, compared with a growth rate for our nation of 77 per cent.

International Business Machines (in 11th place) set the pace with a sales rise of 588.3 per cent. Monsanto Chemical (35th place) came second with a rise of 291.9 per cent. Minneapolis-Honeywell (49th) was third with an increase of 289.9 per cent.

2. On average, the net earnings per share of stock for all 50 stocks climbed 33.9 per cent. Again, IBM was the leader with a rate of profit growth of 356.7 per cent. This time in second spot was Gulf Oil (13th on the list) with a rate of profit growth of 180.4 per cent. Third came Texas Utilities (29th) with a profit increase of 160 per cent.

3. On average, the 50 companies have declared at least one cash dividend each year for 39 consecutive years.

Leader here is American Telephone (4th on the list) which has paid a cash dividend since 1881 — 81 years. In addition, on five of the stocks, cash dividends have been paid for a minimum of 60 years, on nine for at least 50 years, on 24 for 40 years or more.

4. The 50 stocks yield on average 2.5 per cent — meaning this is the annual rate of return to the holder at today's prices.

Kennecott (20th place) is at the top of the yield scale with a return to holders at today's price of 6.3 per cent. IBM is at the bottom with an annual rate of return of a picayune .4 per cent. The favorites returning 4 per cent or better in addition to Kennecott are Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Motors, Socony Mobil, Standard Oil of California, American Can, Bethlehem Steel, International Harvester.

Price-Earnings Ratio

5. The price-earnings ratio for the group is 24.4 to 1. The P-E ratio is the term used to indicate the number of times the amount earned per share at which a stock sells — so 24.4 to 1 means these stocks are selling at 24.4 times the earnings available per share.

The ratios range from a seemingly ridiculous ratio of 95.6 to 1, on that great growth stock, IBM, to a low of 11.4 to 1 on Kennecott. On 17 of the stocks, the P-E ratio is under 20 to 1.

The time-honored yardsticks for attractive stocks are high rate of growth, high degree of safety, high annual income — and obviously each of the favorite 50 has at least one of these qualities. Incidentally, there's not a single "atomic" or "nuclear" or "astro" or "dynamics" in the whole bunch of names.

75 Per Cent of Division Granted Holiday Leaves

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The men of Wisconsin's 32nd Division have completed the first phase of their training and the next major event on the schedule is Christmas leave, starting Wednesday for up to 75 per cent of the unit.

"It has not been necessary to leave out anybody who asked for holiday leave," a spokesman said. The furlough will begin at 5 p.m. Wednesday and end Jan. 4. The majority of the division's 13,000 men getting leave will be returning to Wisconsin.

As the division completed the first segment of training to achieve a combat edge, it drew the congratulations of its commander.

Maj. Gen. Herbert A. Smith, speaking at a review Saturday, also struck out at critics, saying the "complaints of a few" have been magnified and distorted.

Smith also cautioned the men to view skeptically rumors that the division might be released sooner than the year specified in its original orders. "Anything less," he said, "would be a bo-ban."

The men heading for Wisconsin from the bank, but ploved into another bank on the wrong side of the street in the 600 block of West College Avenue.

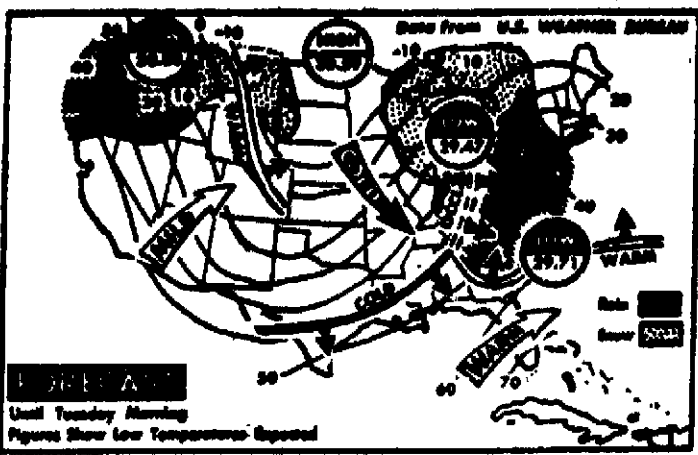

"Several Beers" Judge Gustave Keller he had had several beers before reporting to work at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Arrested Sunday night for driving while intoxicated, Norman E. Sommer, 210 W. Brewster St., provost marshal's office. A few failed to appear in Municipal court and forfeited $175.

Sommer was arrested by a state patrolman on U. S. 41 in the Town of Grand Chute. He tested .23 on a drunkometer. A mark of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Irvin Meidam, 62, route 2, Clintonville, was fined $125 on a full strength review for the first time since World War II.

Frank Sinkewicz, Clintonville police arrested Meidam Friday. Meidam's driver's license was automatically revoked for one year.

Light Rain and Drizzle is expected tonight from the eastern Lakes area southeast to Georgia while the remainder of the Lakes area will have snow. Snow also is forecast for the northern Rockies while rain is expected in Washington and Oregon. It will be warmer in the middle and north Atlantic states; colder from the Plains eastward through the Mississippi valley to the Ohio valley.

Paper Firm Makes Two Promotions

The appointment of Donald Lichty as treasurer and John P. Melsen as controller for Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., a producer of business, printing and converting papers, was announced today.

A long list of congressmen and others visited and inspected Ft. Lewis since Thanksgiving Day when Rep. Alvin O'Konski, R-Wis., arrived and made the first of a series of charges against the Army in connection with the camp.

The first phase of the training program was devoted to the duties of individual members. This meant long hours of drill day and night in good weather and bad, bayonet and hand grenade practice, sessions on the firing ranges and other tests and drills for individuals.

Part two of the program will be on the company level where infantry squads and platoons coordinate their skills and work on larger and more complex problems. The training will continue for the men not taking leave.

Added to the training are schools both on and off the post, with members of the 32nd constituting more than half the attendance and 85 per cent of the instruction.

What can 50 years of experience mean to you?

Fifty years ago, when Employers Mutuals of Wausau opened for business, we began working in a unique way.

And we've continued to work that way ever since.

For example, you may think that all Workmen's Compensation Insurance policies are basically alike.

That is, the words are pretty much the same.

But what sets us apart is the interpretation of those words and the way we put that interpretation into action.

And that's how we've gained an enviable reputation. That reputation is based on our unexcelled claims service, and our experience in accident prevention... experience that means lower costs to policyholders.

We'd like to tell you how our experience can serve you.

Won't you call us, please?

CENTURY OLD BRIAR BACK TO NAPOLEON'S TIME

Because of the Civil War in Algeria, the world's largest pipe manufacturer in France was cut off from his Briar supply. He went to Corsica, the isle of beauty, famous for its precious grain briar, and was able to buy the rights to exploit a forest and join with Corsican excavators to remove from the earth the oldest buris first, some of which were already growing in Napoleon's time. It is said Briar Pipes originated in Corsica, but as supply was limited and the briar more expensive, they had to exploit other areas.
